

INAUGURATION FAILS TO STIR CAPITAL'S CALM

Usual Elaborate Preparations for Quadrennial Event Are Noticeably Lacking This Year.

WASHINGTON TAKES EVENT WITH YAWN

Only Unusual Activity of Administration This Year Will Be in Field of Foreign Relations.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, March 1.—An air of calm, which is typical of Calvin Coolidge, pervades the capital with the opening of inauguration week. The president began the week with no change in his usual Sunday routine of attending church, Washington, which usually is bursting with excitement on the eve of inauguration, is approaching the occasion with the same unemotional calm as the chief actor. This impression of calm is heightened by the noticeable absence of the usual elaborate preparations for the big day. Hotels are filling up comfortably, but there is no jam. Decorations are being put up in the downtown section, but they are meager in contrast to what would be hung out for a Shriners' convention. Only a handful of spectators' stands are going up on Pennsylvania avenue, because the parade is to be so short that nobody will pay money for a seat.

Reflects State of Mind.

This is a perfect outward reflection of the state of mind here. The reason for this indifference is that the hour of 12 noon on March 4 will have little actual importance concerning the management of the government. It will constitute a milestone, but not a boundary line.

Four years ago, the stroke of 12 turned a horde of democrats out of office and put a horde of republicans in. It brought on a complete shift of personnel and many vital changes of policy.

Nothing like that takes place this time. Secretary of State Hughes goes out and Kellogg takes his place. Secretary of Agriculture Goss leaves for West Virginia to be governor, and Dr. Jardine comes on from Kansas to replace him. Charles B. Warren will move into the department of justice, if and when he is confirmed. But these few incidental changes have little political significance, because they portend no vital turns in policy.

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

"DEATH RAY" SOLD IN UNITED STATES, INVENTOR ASSERTS

Southampton, England, March 1.—H. Grindell Matthews, inventor of the "death ray," asserted on his arrival here yesterday from the United States that he had disposed of his invention in America, but he would not divulge the buyer's price. Mr. Matthews, who was a passenger on the Aquitania, said: "England now has definitely lost the chance of obtaining my invention known as the 'death ray.' America snapped it up. I had been there only a week when I concluded negotiations for its sale."

"There is one thing pleases me above all else," added on his arrival, "and that is that I gave England the first chance."

Matthews will collect all material and diagrams dealing with his invention, and return to America in six weeks, he said.

For Business Men Who Think

During the past five years men have realized as never before that the man with the most information has the best chance of success. To put just the information that the business man needs into concrete form is the object of the Cambridge Associates, who have arranged exclusively for The Atlanta Constitution an invaluable news service for the business man.

Business Is Going To Be Good This Year
Study the daily charts and the comprehensive outline of the trend of various lines.
The First Appears Today
IN THE FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS NEWS SECTION

Big Administration Bills in Congress Have Little Chance

SAN BLAS INDIANS OFFER TO PANAMA PEACE OR BATTLE

Richard Marsh, American Explorer, Blamed for Uprising of Indians, Who Have Killed Score.

Balboa, Canal Zone, March 1.—Concentrated on half a dozen small islands, 2000 well-armed San Blas Indians are waiting for the government of Panama to decide whether there shall be war or peace in the territory.

Ten miles away, 350 government troops are waiting word from the capital. The soldiers have machine guns, which it is believed the Indians do not possess. San Blas tribesmen are cruel fighters, somewhat similar to the Apaches of the western plains in their treatment of captives. If the massacres of the last week are permitted to burst into avowed warfare, there probably will be bloody tales to tell.

The Panama government apparently blames the American explorer, Richard O. Marsh, for the Indian uprising. He is alleged to have incited the savages and then to have invited them to take arms against a few Panama settlers in the San Blas country.

If Marsh is guilty, the government intends to punish him. American authorities are endeavoring to persuade the government to withdraw its charges. The explorer is with his Indian friends, preparing to repel the Panama forces.

A message from the Indians, presumably drafted by Marsh, as was the first ultimatum they delivered, has been received. They demand that the present governor of the San Blas territory and his officials be dismissed. Unless the government first agrees to this, the Indians say they will refuse even to read the terms of peace which the government proposes to suggest.

The government still hopes to reach a peaceful settlement with the Indians, but Marsh's responsibility for the rising will be investigated before he is held guilty for the deaths of more than a score of settlers.

HOT FIGHTS SEEN FOR CITY COUNCIL

Bus Petitions Vie With School Election for Center of Stage at Meeting Today.

A glance at the roster of impending business for city council at its regular meeting this afternoon discloses several certain battles on matters of importance to the entire city.

Chief among these controversies is that brought on by the petitions of several interests to establish bus lines in Atlanta and the question of abolishment of the office of city marshal. The latter proposed measure was advanced by action of the tax committee of the city late last week.

Considerable discussion is also looked for on the election of a member of the board of education from the Ninth ward to succeed A. C. Meixell, who died several weeks ago.

Bus Petitions. The application of Preston S. Arkwright and H. M. Atkinson, for the Georgia Railway and Power company to establish a coach line comes to council with a favorable report from the street committee. Applications of two other parties to establish bus lines were advanced by that body.

Approval of the Arkwright-Atkinson petition for coach lines to serve the Morningstar-Sylvan Hills section was the first item on the agenda.

Continued on Page 3, Column 4.

FOSDICK RAPS AT ORTHODOXY IN FAREWELL

"I Am Heretic If Conventional Orthodoxy Is Standard," He Declares In Final Sermon.

CHURCH IS PACKED TO HEAR DISCOURSE

Beliefs That Now Seem So Modern Will Be Orthodox In Few Years, He Predicts.

BY LYLE C. WILSON.

New York, March 1.—Two thousand sorrowful men and women heard Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick say his farewell from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, where for nearly six years he has preached what he himself described in his final sermon as heresy against conventional orthodoxy.

The church was packed as Fosdick's words have packed it since he first established himself, a Baptist preacher in a Presbyterian pulpit, as the most brilliant exponent of the modernism that so tortured the minds of the Presbyterian general assemblymen and officials of other creeds. The assembly's ultimatum that he accept the Presbyterian faith or withdraw from his associate relationship with the church forced Fosdick out. Many of the women and not a few of the men listeners wept as he told them goodbye.

"They call me a heretic," he said.

Pleads Guilty to Charge.

"How respectable heretics become in the retrospect of history? Well, I am a heretic if conventional orthodoxy is the standard. I should be ashamed to live in this generation and not be a heretic. I tell you that a few years hence the beliefs that seem so modern now will be orthodox. Sooner or later, the church will swing to them."

"We have stood for service. We have believed that the principles of Jesus were meant to be applied to our social relationships. I do not believe that our present economic system is Christian and I have said so. I do not believe that our present international life is Christian and I have said so. I deplore the cruelties of our modern industrialism. I abhor war and I never expect to bless another one."

Tried Adventurous Experiment.

"Always, you tell me, that a church we entered on an adventurous experiment. Those were the spacious days after the war when our hearts were open to such other across all the world boundaries. Those were the days when, lacking cool enough to go around, Presbyterian and Baptist churches actually consensually to worship together."

"Those were the days when we told each other with tears in our eyes of Catholic chaplains giving the last rites of Jewish soldiers, and Protestant clergymen holding the crosses before the closing eyes of Catholic boys. In those days, we entered on our adventurous experiment—interdenominational ministry to build a community church that should be in fact a house of prayer for all people."

"The tragedy of Protestantism has been that every time anybody lighted on a new opinion in doctrine or church policy, he went off, he found power enough, and founded a new denomination. The lamentable result is all about us—over 100 different sects."

Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

QUEEN OF BELGIANS HAS HAIR SHINGLED DESPITE PROTESTS

London, March 1.—Despite protests of her ladies-in-waiting, Elizabeth, queen of the Belgians, has had her hair shingled, according to the Sunday Express.

Queen Elizabeth will be 50 years old on her next birthday.

Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

Constitution Will Provide Enlarged Tourist Service

ROAD INFORMATION FREE TO MOTORISTS

A greatly enlarged road information service, free to all car owners, is the answer of The Constitution to a persistent demand from tourists and from southern business interests that recognize the value of the motor tourist to any section through which tourists travel. It is the purpose of The Constitution to provide the tourist a service superior to any other free or paid road service. And in doing this, it is planned to bring the unlimited possibilities of the southeast, particularly of Georgia and Florida, to the attention of every tourist visiting the south.

Through affiliation with other bureaus throughout the south, and by means of free distribution through hotels, garages, automobile dealers,

"RIGHT OF ARTIST TO WORK HE CREATED INALIENABLE," DECLARES GUTZON BORGLUM

Surgical 'Miracle' Performed Upon Girl, 7, With Paralysis

FOCAL INFECTION BENEATH EARS DISCOVERED.

BY CARL HUBER. Boston, March 1.—What doctors call one of the rarest of the "miracles" of medical science has, quite by chance, saved the life of 7-year-old Grace Arlock, who until recently suffered from almost total paralysis. For months her case was considered hopeless. Bent and twisted, she lay lifeless on a cot, making only a faint moan when her legs or arms were touched.

A half-dozen or more eminent orthopedic doctors diagnosed her trouble as progressive muscular atrophy, one of the diseases of childhood, and said she could never be cured. That was the child's condition when Dr. Jacob Luffig, of the children's department of Tufts college medical school, was called in by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Arlock, of Chelsea, and made the discovery that led to the cure.

"I noticed that she winced when I felt the neck between her ears," said Dr. Luffig. "It gave me an idea. I decided there was one chance in a million that there might be a focal infection there, caused by bad tonsils and adenoids."

"I had her taken to the Roxbury hospital, but at first no surgeon would operate upon her. She was so weak they thought she would die. At last, however, I persuaded the surgeons to operate."

GEORGIA OFFICE FIREFIGHTER HIT BY SPEEDING CAR AND BADLY HURT

Bartering Charge Will Be Probed

Federal Agents To Investigate "Office Trafficking" Complained of by Georgia Senators.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, March 1.—Charges of trafficking in federal offices in Georgia and South Carolina have been made the subject of inquiry by the department of justice.

The inquiry has been placed under the direction of William J. Donovan, assistant attorney general in charge of criminal prosecution, it was learned tonight.

The steps taken by the justice department are an outgrowth of complaints presented within recent weeks to President Coolidge by Senators Harris and George, democrats, Georgia, and referred by the executive to the justice department.

It was said officially tonight that the president has not directed the investigation, but on receiving the complaints turned them over to the department.

Complaints of sale of federal offices by republican leaders from southern states have been made from time to time within the last two or three years, and it is understood that the nature of these complaints has been adjudged by the justice department as sufficient to warrant an investigation.

Some of these complaints have been made by Senator Dial, democrat, South Carolina, and Representative

Many Believed Dead in Blast Turn Up Alive

Casualties in Dynamite Explosion Near Rio de Janeiro May Not Exceed 50.

BY GRANT KEENER. Rio de Janeiro, March 1.—Scores of frightened laborers, believed to have been blasted to bits when 3,000 cases of stored dynamite let go during a fire that swept Caju Island, are turning up with the request that their names be stricken from the list of the dead.

Caju Island, the site of the Atlantic Refining company's oil tanks and works, rocked with the tremendous force of the explosion, but reports of hundreds of casualties were simply of conjecture of what so great a blast could have accomplished had many persons been near it. Following a careful examination of the scene, this correspondent is convinced that less than 50 persons lost their lives in the fire and resultant blast.

The debris, which was reported to conceal a shambles of mangled or charred corpses, undoubtedly does contain the remains of some unfortunate workers, but only a few employees were about the plant when the dynamite was blown. Twenty minutes before the explosion, the 4 o'clock whistle had sounded and that was the signal that the day's work was done. There was no night shift of appreciable numbers.

So far, seven bodies have been identified. The newspapers estimate the death list at 50 persons, but calculation is difficult. Portions of bodies have been found mangled where they were cast by the explosion, and to determine just how many complete corpses they represent would be impossible.

Even these conservative estimates of 50 dead seem to be exaggerated. Saturday night, laborers began to return to the scene of the explosion. They had fled from the fire which had spread to the island from gasoline lighters moored nearby.

Throughout Saturday night, these refugees appeared to decrease the death list. Sunday they still were arriving. It is not unlikely that others will continue to arrive for a couple of days.

SCULPTOR STATES HE WILL REFUSE ANY COMPROMISE

Reaches New York To Hold Conference With Friends on Defense of "His Own Creations."

STATES MEMORIAL MUST BE FINISHED

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. New York, March 1.—The New York American will say in a copyrighted article tomorrow that Gutzon Borglum, who was recently discharged as sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial on his arrival here today declared that he destroyed his inaccurate working model of the project because of his belief in "the inalienable right of an artist to his own creation."

"The authority and final control of authorship has been recognized since the beginning of creative work," he is quoted as saying. "I still gladly rot in jail before I'll compromise in the slightest. Let the small minds of my enemies who think a local stone cutter or shoemaker or a journeyman printer can do the work of a sculptor, go as far as they like. I am ready for the fight."

Borglum arrived here from Greensboro, N. C., this afternoon. He was arrested at Greensboro last night on a charge growing out of the destruction of his models, and will return there next Saturday to fight the charge. Meanwhile, says The American, he is conferring with wealthy friends here whom he expects to support him in his fight for ownership of his own creation.

Will Return to Greensboro.

Borglum arrived here from Greensboro, N. C., this afternoon. He was arrested at Greensboro last night on a charge growing out of the destruction of his models, and will return there next Saturday to fight the charge. Meanwhile, says The American, he is conferring with wealthy friends here whom he expects to support him in his fight for ownership of his own creation.

The sculptor accused the persons responsible for his dismissal of "trying to ruin the greatest expression of a people's faith that was ever put into permanent form." He also charged that the Stone Mountain association, which has its headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., spent almost as much to run the office as was spent on the actual work of carving the gigantic figures from the granite face of the mountain.

Plan His Property.

The present plan for the memorial, he said, according to The American, is his, and he has the immemorial right of the artist to the creations of his mind.

"When I first went there nine years ago," he is quoted as saying, "they wanted a tiny head of Lee carved in that great mountain—a head that would have looked like a dime on that big rug there. I told them so. The women of the Daughters of the Confederacy were with me. We revolutionized the project."

"Now, we have a great streaming artillery spread across the face of the procession of infantry, cavalry and mountain, with a central picture of his mind."

Continued on Page 2, Column 3.

BANDIT IS KILLED BY RAILROAD TRAIN IN MAKING ESCAPE

Toledo, Ohio, March 1.—One of four men suspected of robbing the postoffice at Lorain, early today of $12,750 in money and postage stamps was killed when the automobile he occupied with his escaping accomplices was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train at Helena, Ohio, three hours later.

The dead man was identified as John Peer, 35, of Lorain. Paper money, amounting to $750, was found in Peer's pockets. The three other men disappeared following the accident.

The Weather

FAIR.

Washington.—Forecast:

Georgia: Fair Monday; cooler in east and south portion Tuesday, unsettled; moderate northwest winds.

Florida: Fair Monday; slightly cooler in north portion; Tuesday fair; moderate western winds.

Extreme Northwest Florida: Fair Monday and Tuesday; moderate northerly winds.

Alabama and Mississippi: Fair Monday and Tuesday; moderate westerly winds.

North Carolina and South Carolina: Fair and colder Monday; Tuesday unsettled; fresh, west and north-west winds.

STONE TO TAKE HIS SEAT TODAY

Washington, March 1.—Harlan Stone, of New York city, plans to put on the robes of office tomorrow as a member of the supreme court of the United States.

He will be the third attorney general in recent years to go upon the bench of the highest court, filling the vacancy caused by the voluntary retirement of Justice McKenna, a former attorney general, and Justice McReynolds, likewise promoted from the department of justice.

The ceremonies attending the elevation of Mr. Stone to the bench will be comparatively simple. Wearing his gown, Mr. Stone will enter the courtroom with the other justices. Taking a position behind the screen at the rear of the bench, he will remain there until Chief Justice Taft announces that he is present to take the oath of office and the clerk of the court will administer the judicial oath, the court and the audience standing.

A formal welcome on behalf of the court will be extended by the chief justice and the new justice then will be ready to take his seat at the foot of the bench to the left of the chief justice.

The first cases which Justice Stone

WILL BE PROBED

Continued From First Page.

sentative Stevenson, democrat, of the same state. No comment on the investigation has been made at the department, but Mr. Stevenson said last week he had been assured that if investigation disclosed violations of the civil service act, prosecutions would be undertaken.

Most of the complaints have had to do with postmasterhips and some have taken the form, not of actual sale of offices, but of promises of endorsement for those making certain contributions to local campaign funds.

Violations Not Clear Cut.

Postmaster General Nease recently had inspectors of his department investigate charges relating to postmasterhips in South Carolina, but it was understood that no clear-cut violations of law were found.

Assistant Attorney General Donovan conducted the investigation which resulted in the recent conviction of several officials of the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Mr. Donovan also is in charge of the grand jury proceedings now pending in the district of Columbia involving Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana.

BORGLUM DEFENDS RIGHTS AS ARTIST

Continued From First Page.

the great figures of the Confederacy. Nothing like it has ever been seen in the world before.

He declared that when he accepted the commission to realize this dream he became not only the sculptor-organizer, but chief financial adviser of the plan. He toured the country, making scores of speeches, begging support for the work, which he declared was "greater than anything ever attempted before at any time," he said, according to The American. "I took prominent men on that committee in Atlanta and convinced them that it was not a dream; that it was feasible from an engineering standpoint; even that it would prove commercially profitable for them and for their business interests. Finally, I persuaded most of them, I think, that we were building something great into the national faith."

Says Borglum Paid.

"Who paid for this? Just one man—Gutzon Borglum. I paid for scaffolding, dynamite, machinery, paid the cost of working out engineering difficulties. Samuel Venable, owner of the mountain, and E. Y. Clarke helped."

The sculptor said that the association collected according to its figures $120,000 and spent $170,000. Of this, he said, it was admitted that $70,000 was spent in the office of the association.

Two weeks ago, he said, a meeting of the board of directors of the association was called and he brought an account from New York, paying him $100 a day to audit the accounts. He said he has not yet received an accounting. He also charged that officers of several wealthy men to take $100,000 worth of the Stone Mountain Memorial coins "to be issued by the government were turned down by Vice President Rivers, business manager of the association."

Hurried to Atlanta.

Last Tuesday he was in Washington when a special meeting was called, and he hurried to Atlanta. Arriving there Wednesday, he said he was told that he had been discharged and local stonecutters were to finish his work. The rough model at his studio at the mountain was dimensionally incorrect, Borglum said, according to The American, and he destroyed it. His great work "cannot be stopped," he is quoted as saying, in conclusion. "No one may meddle with the work of the creator of the idea. I shall accept any sentence and spend the rest of my life in jail rather than admit my small-minded enemies are right."

"Stone Mountain Memorial is the greatest project of its sort ever conceived. It should be finished because it represents an idea as deep, basic, as the rocks upon which our continent rests."

BORGLUM WILL FIGHT RETURN TO ATLANTA.

Greensboro, N. C., March 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gutzon Borglum, who was arrested here last night as he was leaving the town, and who was later released on a habeas corpus bond of $5,000 and departed for New York, it is understood, will fight extradition to Atlanta, where he is charged with "malicious mischief" for alleged destruction of models of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial supposed to have belonged to the national association.

Borglum said he feared that once he was returned to the Georgia capital for trial his chances would be exceedingly slim. He intended to put up a stiff fight against extradition, declaring he intended to lay his whole case before Governor A. W. McLean at Raleigh.

J. G. Tucker, superintendent of building construction at Stone Mountain, evaded the officers here at the time Borglum was arrested and has not been heard of since. Tucker had Borglum's baggage at the time of his disappearance and the sculptor was forced to continue his journey without it.

Had Tucker's Ticket.

Borglum, however, had Tucker's ticket and stated that the latter had very little money, not enough to take him to New York, and it is assumed that the building construction superintendent is somewhere in this vicinity. Borglum left the ticket and a sum of money with a representative of a local newspaper with the instructions to give them to Tucker should he be found.

GETTING UP NIGHTS IS A DANGER SIGNAL

Surprising as it may seem, two men out of three past 40, and many younger, have prostate trouble. This, rather than weak kidneys or bladder, is the usual cause of frequent getting up at night. This enlarged prostate makes it impossible to fully empty the bladder at one time, necessitating frequent and often painful attempts. Unchecked, this condition can lead to chronic prostatitis, serious kidney and bladder complications and often causes unfortunate operations and unhappy conditions.

A safe and easy way to treat these annoying and dangerous conditions is to be had in the new Renex formula that has proven amazingly successful in thousands of cases. A ten to fifteen-day supply costs only $2.00, under a positive guarantee of money back if not satisfied. Any one suffering from these conditions should take advantage of this remarkable offer at once by sending to the Renex Co., Dept. 1303, Kansas City, Mo., for a supply. Sent C. O. D. if you prefer. Surely a chance to regain rest, better health, more vigor and vitality, will prompt you to try Renex. It can cost you nothing if you are not satisfied, as this is a thoroughly reliable company.—(adv.)

Carloadings Break Records For This Time of Year

Freight traffic on the country's railroads, the American Railway Association divulges, is the greatest ever recorded for this season of the year. During the first six weeks of 1925 loadings of revenue freight totaled 5,379,237 cars, an increase of 178,950 cars, or 3.4 per cent over the loadings reported for the corresponding weeks of 1924, a period which in itself broke all former records.

Just how this carloadings record for 1925, with seasonal tendencies removed, compares with an estimated normal trend, allowing for annual growth in demand of about 3.75 per cent, can be seen from the above chart. Seasonal influences are removed by reducing the carloadings figures to percentages of the averages for the corresponding periods of 1919 to 1923. It will thus be seen that the sharp rise in the actual trend of freight traffic since last autumn has now brought carloadings to a point apparently a little above the normal level.

There is some complaint at present that retail and wholesale trade are not fully reflecting the sharp improvement in the production of commodities, but it is rather difficult to reconcile these complaints with the above record distribution. For carloadings, while they may not indicate fully final consumption of goods at retail, do indicate that there is buying going on somewhere. And in so far as retail trade is concerned, the federal reserve board informs us that department store sales during January were one-tenth of one per cent heavier than during January, 1924. While it must be admitted that a normal growth in demand would lead to expectation of a greater increase than this in retail trade, it must also be admitted that the figures show an excellent volume of buying.

Another point worthy of note is that production usually speeds up before distributors feel the effect of improved business. And increased production brings increased employment, which sooner or later results in greater buying power.

he put in his appearance. Up to a late hour tonight the money and ticket were still unclaimed.

Borglum is a person here Saturday for a hearing before Judge Michael Schenck and it is understood an Atlanta attorney will be on hand and will seek extradition. In the meantime, local officers are keeping a sharp watch for Tucker.

HERBERT MYRICK DEPOSES GUTZON BORGLUM'S ARREST

Herbert Myrick, publisher of the Orange Judd publications, and perhaps the best-known farm magazine publisher in the world, Sunday sent The Constitution the following telegram from Springfield, Mass.:

"Permit me to voice the popular protest at the indignity perpetrated upon the American people by the arrest of Gutzon Borglum. The public and trust the passion which impelled the issuance of the warrant would subside and that wiser counsels would lead to its withdrawal. Hence the country is shocked this morning that the trip to Miami of this era has been hunted and apprehended like a criminal. The persecution is based only on the alleged charges of 'malicious mischief' in breaking up models which the court of last resort may decide were Mr. Borglum's personal property."

"Legal decisions here and abroad indicate that the artist acted wholly within his rights. Whatever the courts may hold regarding the legal technicalities involved, the public and interest which are binding our whole people into a yet closer union, one and indivisible, and which is impelled by the hasty act of the few. Let moderation and charity prevail."

TWO BADLY HURT IN KNIFE BATTLE

Continued From First Page.

wrote the name of Frank Simmons, of 22 Hansell street.

Simmons, who is known to police under the alias of C. C. Simmons, was arrested and held without bond. His charge read, "drunk—hold—may be murder."

Clark said he was stabbed by Dan Kennedy, 22, of 38 Rosalia street. Kennedy was arrested and held without bond on a blanket charge of suspicion.

Cliff Bradley, 21, of 81 Garabaldi street, said he had been a member of the party, was seized on a charge of disorderly conduct. His bond was assessed at $100.

Call Officers Craig and Lee, who investigated the fight, were unable to learn the causes for hostilities. They found a quart milk bottle, containing a small quantity of whisky in the hands of the boys and stated that, as far as they could learn, the boys had all been friends. Simmons and Kennedy had been drinking heavily, the officers said.

Kennedy and Bradley emphatically denied any knowledge of the cutting, although Kennedy admitted having fought with Clark. Simmons refused to talk to the officers.

Orders were left at police station to hold Clark for arrest in the event of his recovery.

Negro Fatally Shot.

Patrolman James R. Palmer, elected to the force at the last meeting of the police committee, Sunday afternoon shot and probably fatally wounded Charlie Revis, a negro, of 6 1/2 Glenwood avenue. The victim, it is said, was advancing on the officer with an open knife when he was wounded.

Revis is in Grady hospital in a dying condition. The bullet punctured his intestines. The negro is reported to have run two or three blocks after the officer shot him. The shooting occurred at the corner of Georgia avenue and Reid street.

According to the report filed by Officer Palmer, he was attempting to arrest the negro under a charge of drunk and disorderly. When Revis was told he was under arrest, he is said to have whipped out his knife and approached the officer. The shooting followed.

A large crowd witnessed the shooting, having attracted considerable attention. It is said, by his boisterous and profane language.

RISING FAWN VISITED BY DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Rising Fawn, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—The three-story brick building in which was located the Methodist church, Masonic and Eastern Star hall, was burned Friday night, causing a total loss.

The fire originated in the upper story and was caused by the burning of a jug of gasoline in a kitchenette and it ignited from a stove.

The building was more than 50 years old. Nothing was saved.

The government cannot hope to develop its air service to the extent it should be without the cooperation of civilian agencies in every town and city. We have had wonderful cooperation here.

General Mitchell is right in his argument with the department as to the actual state of the United States air defense. He's a flyer, and he knows the game."

The actual combat flying, the group units must keep in position for constant communication, he pointed out, and he said that more knowledge along this line was gained in this flight than in any other ever attempted.

GRANDMOTHER DIES AT YOUTH'S FUNERAL

Thomasville, N. C., March 1.—Mrs. Randall Proctor, about 75 years old, fell from a chair dead while the funeral of her grandson, Harry Proctor, 22, was being conducted at her home here today. Young Proctor was killed in an automobile accident at Winston-Salem Friday night and news of his untimely death caused his grandmother to collapse Saturday, it was said.

LOW SUGAR PRICES SEEN IN FORECAST

Washington, March 1.—A world crop of 24,671,000 short tons of sugar for the 1924-25 season was forecast today by the department of agriculture, which said that on this basis there was remote possibility that world sugar prices would rise during the coming season.

The previous record production, 22,035,000 short tons in 1923-24, was surpassed largely because of the increase in European beet sugar areas, the department said. Sugar production in continental United States was estimated at 1,200,000 tons, against 1,043,000 tons last season. Of the total, beets produced about 1,100,000 tons.

Prospects are that Hawaii's crop will be the same as last season's, the department said, with Porto Rico and the Philippines producing slightly larger amounts than last year. Cuba's crop was forecast at more than 5,200,000 tons, or an increase of 600,000 tons over last season.

MARCHAND The Man Who Is Astounding America

At last our city wins! Now it can be definitely announced that we are to have an opportunity to see and hear E. E. Marchand, the man who has created a sensation in America. With Europe amazed and still talking about the secrets revealed on his first world tour, Marchand has at last consented to speak in our city.

This free public lecture is a thrilling call to the hearts of all who aspire to greater things. You will live, laugh and drink in the great living secrets, for they will be given to you with that dynamic power that brought fame and fortune to this supremely successful self-made man.

Marchand's life is an inspiration to every ambitious man and woman in the world. He has risen from poverty, ill health and failure to wealth, health and fame and shows you how to do the same. He will show you a way so straight, so scientific that you will feel, look and act like a new and happier person.

More than a million people heard Marchand last year. You will see WHY when you hear him yourself. He will give you something you will never lose and never forget. It may be the means of changing your entire life!

Wednesday, March 4, 8:15 P. M.

Atlanta Theatre
ADMISSION FREE

What the World Broadcasts to You

Paris Temps—
"All Paris is ringing with praise of Marchand's marvelous work."

N. Y. American—
"Marchand's counsel is constantly sought by men of affairs, and as a 'man hunter' he holds a position of undisputed leadership in America. He is continually asking him for them men and women with ability to fill big positions."

Berlin Deutsche Zeitung—
"Marchand is a master of his subject."

N. Y. Sun—
"Carnegie Hall was packed with an enthusiastic crowd that greeted Marchand with round after round of applause."

Who Is Still Using the Oldest "Eclipse" Gas Range in Atlanta?

We want to find the oldest Eclipse that is still in service on the lines of this company. We want to display it as evidence of the enduring qualities of this make that we have been selling for 36 years.

We'll Trade It In As Payment in Full for a

Brand New 1925. ROPER (Formerly "Eclipse")

Model 479, with 18-inch oven, white enamel doors, splashers, pan, priced at... $64

NO STRINGS TO THIS OFFER

Closing date, Monday, March 9, at midnight. Telephone or write before then to Sales Department of this company. Or better still, come in and report.

GAS RANGES THAT LAST
Georgia Ry. & Power Co.

Retail Stores
Atlanta, 75 Marietta St. Decatur, 136 Sycamore St.

Head Swim? Clear the digestive tract, if you would relieve dizziness,

IN the dark ages of medical knowledge, people didn't understand that most unpleasant of afflictions—uncontrolled dizziness. They blamed the heart, the lungs, the brain—everything but the right thing; suffered untold torture as a result.

Today, sensible people know that dizziness is simply a symptom. It usually means that congested waste matter in the digestive tract is saturating the entire system with its poisons.

Whenever your "head swims," you may be sure that a dose of Pluto Water is in order. This safe, quick-action, water physic goes direct to the root of the trouble. In 30 minutes to two hours, the poison is expelled and a normal feeling of equilibrium returns. Don't resort to slow-action, over-night cathartics. Get relief promptly and thoroughly with Pluto Water.

Pluto is prescribed by physicians, sold by druggists and bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

Quality in Coal is just as important as in food or clothing. It means more comfort and less waste. You are sure of it in

One ton or a year's supply, you get prompt service and real satisfaction. Ten yards for your convenience.

THE R.O. CAMPBELL COAL CO.
5000

Blue Book of the Screen COUPON

Information in the Blue Book of the Screen is not press agent publicity. It is absolutely authentic. Biographies of all prominent screen stars—things you have never known before, detailed description of how motion pictures are made; 415 fascinating pages in rotogravure. Get your copy today.

A $5.00 BOOK

For only $1.00 with 3 coupons, delivered over the counter at The Constitution office, or sent by mail, postage paid for $1.15 up to 300 miles, or beyond for $1.20.

Dawes Reaches Washington, Ready for His Inauguration Wednesday as Vice President

Because of Simplicity of Celebration, Only Three Hours Will Be Required for Whole Ceremony.

BY ROBERT D. LUSK.
Washington, March 1.—Armed with a new supply of underling, Vice President Charles G. Dawes arrived in Washington Sunday, ready for his inauguration as vice president next Wednesday.

Established in the Willard hotel and fortified behind a heavy smoke screen, Dawes declared that he had cleared away his personal affairs and was all set to assume his official duties unhampered. Before he left Chicago, he resigned as chairman of the board of the Central Trust company of Illinois, the institution he founded 20 years ago, and now plans to devote his time to wielding the gavel and preserving order in the senate chamber.

Accompanying the vice president-elect were Mrs. Dawes and their two adopted children, Virginia and Dana. Francis J. Kilfoley, Dawes' manager, was also a member of the party.

Last Only Three Hours.
With the arrival of Dawes, definite arrangements for the inauguration have been announced. Because of the simplicity of the celebration, the entire official installation, according to these plans, will take only three hours.

At 11 a. m. the presidential party will swing out through the gates to the white house grounds for the traditional journey down Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol. At 1 p. m., they will return to the executive mansion and by 2 p. m., after the parade has been reviewed, the official program will be completed, except for a short reception to visiting governors and representatives of the president's home town, Northampton, Mass. The reception will last only 15 minutes from 4:30 until 4:45.

Wives Are Included.
The drive from the white house to the capitol has been limited to essential officials and Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Dawes. Led by a detail of mounted police and a troop of cavalry from Fort Myer, the party will be accommodated in a dozen automobiles, with outriders and another troop of cavalry bringing up the rear.

President and Mrs. Coolidge and Senator Curtis, chairman of the joint congressional committee on inauguration, will ride in the first car. General and Mrs. Dawes and another congressional representative will occupy the next car. The other cars in the procession will carry the remaining members of the inauguration committee, cabinet members and a guard of honor composed of civil war veterans.

The guard of honor was selected as a tribute to the rapidly thinning ranks of men who served the country in the trying days of '61.

Arriving at the capitol, the president will be taken to the senate wing. He will remain in the president's room off the senate lobby during the last minute bills until noon. Then he will go into the chamber to witness the swearing-in of Vice President Dawes. Then all will adjourn to the east front of the capitol, where the president will be sworn in by Chief Justice Taft. He then delivers his inaugural address and hurries back to the white house for luncheon.

The inaugural parade, forming at the capitol, will then proceed down Pennsylvania avenue passing the white house, where the president, having hurriedly eaten his sandwich, will be placed in a small wooden stand on the street curb. Mrs. Coolidge, the cabinet and a handful of friends will be with him.

This ends the official program and any merrymaking that follows, including the charity ball, will be of a private nature.

SUN YAT-SEN STILL NEAR DEATH'S DOOR
Peking, March 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—There was little change today in the condition of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, south China leader, who has been critically ill here for several weeks.

AIRCRAFT INQUIRY ENDS WEDNESDAY

Washington, March 1.—Despite that its stormy investigation must end before noon Wednesday, the house aircraft committee plans to hold at least one, and possibly two more open hearings.

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, has been called for tomorrow, and it also was thought likely tonight that one or two other witnesses might be heard at that session.

Several committee members desire to wind up the inquiry tomorrow, but others are of the opinion that Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant army air chief, should be given an opportunity to answer those who have contradicted his statements since he was last on the witness stand.

Among those who have challenged the testimony of the general is Secretary Weeks, who, in reappearing before the committee, declared General Mitchell deliberately had violated President Coolidge's instructions on publishing certain magazine articles as aircraft without the approval of the war department.

After the close of its hearings, the committee faces the task of going through a bulging record of testimony to draft a report. All hope of sifting this vast, contradictory mass in time for a report to the present congress, however, has been abandoned, and a resolution has been introduced to ask authority to defer it until the next congress convenes.

CALM INAUGURATION AT WASHINGTON
Continued From First Page.

Washington is inclined to take this inauguration with a yawn. If all goes according to program, this will go down in history as the inauguration when nothing happened, just as that of four years ago always will be remembered for the pathetic sight of Woodrow Wilson bravely dragging his half-paralyzed body out of the white house door to ride to the capitol with Harding, or as 16 years ago is remembered as the time of that awful storm which drove Taft into the senate chamber to take the oath.

Extra Session Improbable.
Most presidents begin their term of office with preparations for obtaining important legislation, establishing new policies of a broad, fundamental character such as a new tariff act, the federal reserve act, or the budget law. But Coolidge does not even contemplate an extra session of congress.

He has no new legislative policies to request of congress, so there will be no assembling at Capitol Hill this spring. His only important interest in the legislative field now is further taxation reduction and reform—a constitutional amendment to establish a new revenue source.

Foreign Relations Active.
The one sphere of important activity will be that of foreign affairs. Coolidge hopes to bring about another armament limitations conference. Possibly it will be held next fall.

Great Majority to Fail.
Every measure that fails of enactment at this session automatically will be wiped out of the congressional calendar, and in order to get action in the future, each must go through all the routine of legislative machinery from introduction through committee to action by the two houses.

With hundreds of bills still pending, it appears certain that the great majority of them must fail.

HOT FIGHT IS SEEN FOR CITY COUNCIL
Continued From First Page.

was based on the condition that service on the new line be started not later than March 8 when the anti-jitney ordinance goes into effect. It is expected that the petitioners will agree to this stipulation. Prices have not yet been fixed.

Provision was made by the committee for continued service to the Morningside-Sylvan Hills sections by a recommendation that the petition of the Crosstown Express company be accepted in event immediate service is not guaranteed by power company busses.

Other matters scheduled to be introduced include changes in names of 17 Atlanta streets; revision of the finance sheet to provide funds for salaries of two additional milk inspectors; an ordinance establishing a $5,000 monetary fund for widows and minor children of firemen or policemen killed in performance of duty; an ordinance requiring all industrial and boarding schools to take out city licenses, and possibly a measure asking acceptance of the offer of Asa G. Candler, Jr., to lease to the city the old speedway property near Hapeville for a municipal airplane landing field.

City Marshal Fight.
Despite the fact that a large number of council members signed an ordinance to abolish the office of city marshal when it was introduced several weeks ago, the defeat of the measure is predicted.

Dr. John D. Leonard and Oscar Mills, the two candidates for the board of education post in the Ninth ward, are well-known business men and a lively battle is expected on that election.

There is some possibility that council may be asked to accept the offer of Asa G. Candler, Jr., to give a five-year lease on the old Candler speedway, to be used as an airplane landing field if the city agrees to pay the taxes. The offer has been accepted by Mayor Walter A. Sims, subject to approval of council, and the chief executive has asked the council to do the small amount of grading said to be necessary.

Councilman C. C. Aven, chairman of last year's special committee named to select a landing field site, will oppose acceptance of the Candler offer on the grounds that the field cannot be used as a landing place for large government airplanes and that a better field can be purchased by the city for $65,000. The Candler offer contains the option of buying the 202-acre tract for $100,000 at the expiration of the five-year lease.

PATROLMEN INJURED IN CAR-AUTO CRASH

Patrolmen J. E. Jeffares and G. O. Carroll narrowly escaped death Sunday night when their machine, stalled on the tracks, was struck by an inbound River car of the Georgia Railway and Power company.

Jeffares was taken to the Atlanta hospital in an unconscious condition but revived shortly after his arrival. Carroll suffered a fractured left thumb, bruises and lacerations. Both were permitted to leave the hospital after treatment.

Patrolman Carroll said that the car in which he and Jeffares were riding had stalled on the tracks on Ashby street, near Simpson. He was removing the floor boards of the machine to make the necessary repairs and Jeffares was holding the flashlight when the street car crashed into their machine.

Miss Vera Myers, pretty and versatile star of the Ziegfeld success, "Sally," accompanied by her mother and Mrs. James Rogers, of Augusta, were week-end visitors at the Atlanta Biltmore.

Miss Myers is about to close one of the most successful road seasons of her career. "Sally" has been all over the south, and at all the cities in which she played the S. R. O. sign has always been in evidence. Miss Myers, after another week in the south, will begin another run in New York city with "Sally," which will end on June 1. After that Miss Myers will leave to spend the summer in Alaska with friends before taking up her new career in the movies.

ADMINISTRATION BILLS HAVE LITTLE CHANCE
Continued From First Page.

they can do little more than clean up conference reports on the appropriation bills and odds and ends. They are satisfied that efforts to complete consideration of any of the important administration measures would be useless.

Cape Cod Bill Beaten.
Action of the senate in refusing to add the Cape Cod canal purchase measure as a rider to the rivers and harbors bill spelled the doom of that proposal, as far as this congress is concerned. This proposition has been pending in congress for four years and has received house approval.

Convinced that it would be futile to waste time in attempting to put through big measures, the rank and file in the house and senate are showing more concern over small proposals, hopeful that they will get final action on a wide range of them before the gavel falls at noon Wednesday.

Germany Pays TO DEAD LEADER
Continued From First Page.

where his tactical methods did so much to bring Germany to acceptance of the Dawes plan.

Republic Is Safe.
But in the British view, the German republic is safe, chiefly because German industrialists know that tampering with the Dawes plan would bring the mark crashing to a level from which it could not be lifted. That would cost German business men huge sums of money, as the fat of inflation was reabsorbed in the debt between 1918 and 1921. Further inflation would bring bankruptcy.

Confidential advice to the foreign office suggest another reason for optimism. The German monarchists, it is said, are unable to agree on any candidate for the throne, and if the royal treasury really were within their grasp, the bitter competition among the various aspirants might defeat their cause.

Allies Insistent.
Another point, upon which German (Advertisement)

KANSAS CITY DOCTOR INVENTS NEW TRUSS
New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The Constitution who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. The coupon below is convenient.

FREE TRIAL OFFER COUPON
Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.
Without any obligation whatever on my part, please send me your Free Trial Offer. Here is my name and address.

When your back aches

Enjoy the warming comfort of this quick-acting liniment

When your back is lame after a hard day, comfort those tired, overworked muscles with Sloan's.

No tiresome rubbing! Just pat it on gently. The marvellous effectiveness of the liniment itself does the work. Its highly stimulating ingredients send fresh, purified blood to the painful spot, and this increased supply of fresh, new blood builds up broken-down tissue and washes away fatigue poisons.

Swiftly tense muscles begin to relax, aching and soreness pass away! You find yourself free of tormenting pain. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment kills pain!

Atlanta Branch
241-243 Peachtree Street

FOURTH ANNUAL PEACH BLOSSOM FESTIVAL
FORT VALLEY, GA., MARCH 19TH AND 20TH

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

7-10-31-A

SPARTA SCHOOL HEAD TO TEACH AT ATHENS

Sparta, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—Superintendent W. R. Lanier, of the Sparta public schools, has been selected as one of the teachers in the University of Georgia summer school this year.

Mr. Lanier is one of the best known educators in the state and his selection to this place is further recognition of his ability as an educator.

There are twice as many gainfully occupied women in New York state as in any other state in the Union.

The pension to the family of the late president is governed by the superannuation law. Under the law, the salary of the president, which is double that of the chancellor, is equalized by dividing the pension fund by the number of presidents who have served since 1800. The pension for official expenses. The pension for his family is about $8,400.

The government of Portugal has abandoned its monopoly on the manufacture and sale of matches.

HERBERT STUDYING ENGLISH AT DEATH
Berlin, March 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The late President Ebert was a great admirer of the United States, and, under a teacher, recently had been assiduously studying the English language preparatory to a trip to North America.

On the completion of his term next June, Herr Ebert expected to take a vacation and had planned a hunting trip in Canada. He also had been invited by Senator McNeill McCormick, who died a few days ago, to visit Chicago.

FOSDICK ATTACKS MODERN ORTHODOXY
Continued From First Page.

denominations in America competing, overlapping, insisting on the minutiae of the law, neglecting the weightier matters of the law. Against this ruinous, static policy of the church we have taken our stand.

Idea Here to Stay.
"There is no use trying to turn back the clock. Such ideas as scientific law and evolution are here to stay. We cannot continue the ruinous practice of expecting thoughtful folk to hold religion in one compartment of the mind and their whole modern world view in the other."

"I am not sorry that we tried this experiment. It was worth trying. We have raised a standard that will not be put down."

Dr. Fosdick announced that he did not expect the general assembly to relent, and that he never expected to enter the First Presbyterian church again.

For the next few months, Dr. Fosdick will preach throughout the country, as far as the various pulpits which have been put at his disposal. Then, with his wife and two daughters, he intends to spend a year in the Holy Land.

Germany Pays TO DEAD LEADER
Continued From First Page.

where his tactical methods did so much to bring Germany to acceptance of the Dawes plan.

Republic Is Safe.
But in the British view, the German republic is safe, chiefly because German industrialists know that tampering with the Dawes plan would bring the mark crashing to a level from which it could not be lifted. That would cost German business men huge sums of money, as the fat of inflation was reabsorbed in the debt between 1918 and 1921. Further inflation would bring bankruptcy.

Confidential advice to the foreign office suggest another reason for optimism. The German monarchists, it is said, are unable to agree on any candidate for the throne, and if the royal treasury really were within their grasp, the bitter competition among the various aspirants might defeat their cause.

Allies Insistent.
Another point, upon which German (Advertisement)

KANSAS CITY DOCTOR INVENTS NEW TRUSS
New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The Constitution who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. The coupon below is convenient.

FREE TRIAL OFFER COUPON
Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.
Without any obligation whatever on my part, please send me your Free Trial Offer. Here is my name and address.

When your back aches

Enjoy the warming comfort of this quick-acting liniment

When your back is lame after a hard day, comfort those tired, overworked muscles with Sloan's.

No tiresome rubbing! Just pat it on gently. The marvellous effectiveness of the liniment itself does the work. Its highly stimulating ingredients send fresh, purified blood to the painful spot, and this increased supply of fresh, new blood builds up broken-down tissue and washes away fatigue poisons.

Swiftly tense muscles begin to relax, aching and soreness pass away! You find yourself free of tormenting pain. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment kills pain!

Atlanta Branch
241-243 Peachtree Street

FOURTH ANNUAL PEACH BLOSSOM FESTIVAL
FORT VALLEY, GA., MARCH 19TH AND 20TH

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

7-10-31-A

many needs no warning, is the attitude of France. France holds the Ruhr, although she has promised to evacuate the area in August of this year. France and England jointly occupy the Cologne zone, which was to have been evacuated last January 10. Neither France nor Britain would be disposed to withdraw from German soil if even an over-enthusiastic monarchistic president were elected to succeed Ebert, let alone if the monarchy itself were restored. The power of arms lies with the allies. Germany can do little but accept the situation which demands, according to the British thesis, that Germany remain a republic.

HERBERT STUDYING ENGLISH AT DEATH
Berlin, March 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The late President Ebert was a great admirer of the United States, and, under a teacher, recently had been assiduously studying the English language preparatory to a trip to North America.

On the completion of his term next June, Herr Ebert expected to take a vacation and had planned a hunting trip in Canada. He also had been invited by Senator McNeill McCormick, who died a few days ago, to visit Chicago.

FOSDICK ATTACKS MODERN ORTHODOXY
Continued From First Page.

denominations in America competing, overlapping, insisting on the minutiae of the law, neglecting the weightier matters of the law. Against this ruinous, static policy of the church we have taken our stand.

Idea Here to Stay.
"There is no use trying to turn back the clock. Such ideas as scientific law and evolution are here to stay. We cannot continue the ruinous practice of expecting thoughtful folk to hold religion in one compartment of the mind and their whole modern world view in the other."

"I am not sorry that we tried this experiment. It was worth trying. We have raised a standard that will not be put down."

Dr. Fosdick announced that he did not expect the general assembly to relent, and that he never expected to enter the First Presbyterian church again.

For the next few months, Dr. Fosdick will preach throughout the country, as far as the various pulpits which have been put at his disposal. Then, with his wife and two daughters, he intends to spend a year in the Holy Land.

Germany Pays TO DEAD LEADER
Continued From First Page.

where his tactical methods did so much to bring Germany to acceptance of the Dawes plan.

Republic Is Safe.
But in the British view, the German republic is safe, chiefly because German industrialists know that tampering with the Dawes plan would bring the mark crashing to a level from which it could not be lifted. That would cost German business men huge sums of money, as the fat of inflation was reabsorbed in the debt between 1918 and 1921. Further inflation would bring bankruptcy.

Confidential advice to the foreign office suggest another reason for optimism. The German monarchists, it is said, are unable to agree on any candidate for the throne, and if the royal treasury really were within their grasp, the bitter competition among the various aspirants might defeat their cause.

Allies Insistent.
Another point, upon which German (Advertisement)

KANSAS CITY DOCTOR INVENTS NEW TRUSS
New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The Constitution who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. The coupon below is convenient.

FREE TRIAL OFFER COUPON
Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.
Without any obligation whatever on my part, please send me your Free Trial Offer. Here is my name and address.

When your back aches

Enjoy the warming comfort of this quick-acting liniment

When your back is lame after a hard day, comfort those tired, overworked muscles with Sloan's.

No tiresome rubbing! Just pat it on gently. The marvellous effectiveness of the liniment itself does the work. Its highly stimulating ingredients send fresh, purified blood to the painful spot, and this increased supply of fresh, new blood builds up broken-down tissue and washes away fatigue poisons.

Swiftly tense muscles begin to relax, aching and soreness pass away! You find yourself free of tormenting pain. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment kills pain!

Atlanta Branch
241-243 Peachtree Street

FOURTH ANNUAL PEACH BLOSSOM FESTIVAL
FORT VALLEY, GA., MARCH 19TH AND 20TH

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

7-10-31-A

many needs no warning, is the attitude of France. France holds the Ruhr, although she has promised to evacuate the area in August of this year. France and England jointly occupy the Cologne zone, which was to have been evacuated last January 10. Neither France nor Britain would be disposed to withdraw from German soil if even an over-enthusiastic monarchistic president were elected to succeed Ebert, let alone if the monarchy itself were restored. The power of arms lies with the allies. Germany can do little but accept the situation which demands, according to the British thesis, that Germany remain a republic.

HERBERT STUDYING ENGLISH AT DEATH
Berlin, March 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The late President Ebert was a great admirer of the United States, and, under a teacher, recently had been assiduously studying the English language preparatory to a trip to North America.

On the completion of his term next June, Herr Ebert expected to take a vacation and had planned a hunting trip in Canada. He also had been invited by Senator McNeill McCormick, who died a few days ago, to visit Chicago.

FOSDICK ATTACKS MODERN ORTHODOXY
Continued From First Page.

denominations in America competing, overlapping, insisting on the minutiae of the law, neglecting the weightier matters of the law. Against this ruinous, static policy of the church we have taken our stand.

Idea Here to Stay.
"There is no use trying to turn back the clock. Such ideas as scientific law and evolution are here to stay. We cannot continue the ruinous practice of expecting thoughtful folk to hold religion in one compartment of the mind and their whole modern world view in the other."

"I am not sorry that we tried this experiment. It was worth trying. We have raised a standard that will not be put down."

Dr. Fosdick announced that he did not expect the general assembly to relent, and that he never expected to enter the First Presbyterian church again.

For the next few months, Dr. Fosdick will preach throughout the country, as far as the various pulpits which have been put at his disposal. Then, with his wife and two daughters, he intends to spend a year in the Holy Land.

Germany Pays TO DEAD LEADER
Continued From First Page.

where his tactical methods did so much to bring Germany to acceptance of the Dawes plan.

Republic Is Safe.
But in the British view, the German republic is safe, chiefly because German industrialists know that tampering with the Dawes plan would bring the mark crashing to a level from which it could not be lifted. That would cost German business men huge sums of money, as the fat of inflation was reabsorbed in the debt between 1918 and 1921. Further inflation would bring bankruptcy.

Confidential advice to the foreign office suggest another reason for optimism. The German monarchists, it is said, are unable to agree on any candidate for the throne, and if the royal treasury really were within their grasp, the bitter competition among the various aspirants might defeat their cause.

Allies Insistent.
Another point, upon which German (Advertisement)

KANSAS CITY DOCTOR INVENTS NEW TRUSS
New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The Constitution who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. The coupon below is convenient.

FREE TRIAL OFFER COUPON
Dr. Andrews, 1228 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.
Without any obligation whatever on my part, please send me your Free Trial Offer. Here is my name and address.

When your back aches

Enjoy the warming comfort of this quick-acting liniment

When your back is lame after a hard day, comfort those tired, overworked muscles with Sloan's.

No tiresome rubbing! Just pat it on gently. The marvellous effectiveness of the liniment itself does the work. Its highly stimulating ingredients send fresh, purified blood to the painful spot, and this increased supply of fresh, new blood builds up broken-down tissue and washes away fatigue poisons.

Swiftly tense muscles begin to relax, aching and soreness pass away! You find yourself free of tormenting pain. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment kills pain!

Atlanta Branch
241-243 Peachtree Street

FOURTH ANNUAL PEACH BLOSSOM FESTIVAL
FORT VALLEY, GA., MARCH 19TH AND 20TH

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

7-10-31-A

many needs no warning, is the attitude of France. France holds the Ruhr, although she has promised to evacuate the area in August of this year. France and England jointly occupy the Cologne zone

Wide Variety Represented In Eleven New Senators Who Take Office Wednesday

Eight of Them Are Republicans, Two Are Democrats—Cole Blaise Most Picturesque.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
Washington, March 1.—A wide variety of types is represented among the 11 new senators who will begin their careers next Wednesday to carry on during the new Coolidge administration and into two years of the next. Eight of them are republicans and three are democrats.

There are two millionaires, three ex-governors, two business men, of whom one also made quite a reputation as a soldier during the World war, two ex-congressmen, one judge, and one former official of the department of justice. They will step into the places of a departing group which includes many interesting characters.

All of the republicans, except two, are "regulars" in the real sense, and will strengthen the "Coolidge body."

Of the three democrats, only one holds to a political philosophy which differs greatly from that of most of his colleagues.

Blaise is Most Picturesque.

This is Cole Blaise, former governor of South Carolina, who is perhaps the most picturesque of the new senatorial group. He takes the place of Nathaniel B. Dial, whom he defeated, and is likely in the days to come to raise just as much fur among the democrats as did his predecessor.

Blaise is opposed to the league of nations and the world court, and has announced that he will not consider whether a measure originates from his own side or the republican in his voting. Blaise will join the school of entire, headed by Senator Reed, of Missouri. He is known as a polished orator.

Schall Also Picturesque.

Another picturesque figure in the new senate will be Thomas D. Schall, the blind senator from Minnesota, who succeeds the foghorn-voiced Magnus Johnson. As a member of the house, Schall often wandered astray from the regular republican fold, being identified frequently with the insurgents, but he is expected to move more in the senate. He is the second blind man to sit in the senate, former Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, a democrat, being the other. Schall is a good speaker.

The other republican whose regularity still is a matter of doubt is William H. McMaster, former governor of South Dakota, who supports Hiram Johnson for the presidential nomination. McMaster succeeds Senator Sterling, who has been one of the most consistent of administration backers.

DuPont of Silent Class.

There will be one man in the new line-up of the "silent class," the new DuPont, millionaire republican, whose speeches are expected to be few, if any. He made none when he was in the senate before. In this respect, he will take the place of Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, who made no speeches. DuPont defeated L. Heister Ball of Delaware.

The place left vacant by Elkins will be filled by Guy D. Coffey, republican, formerly assistant attorney general.

The other millionaire elected is William B. Pine, also a republican, who defeated Jack Walton in Oklahoma. Pine has large oil holdings. He succeeds Robert A. Owen, democrat, who supported the republican ticket in preference to Walton.

Deneen Is Ex-Governor.

Another ex-governor is Charles S. Deneen, of Illinois, republican, who has been sworn in already to fill the vacancy created by the death of Medill McCormick. He defeated McCormick in the primaries and was elected for the six-year term.

The other ex-congressman who has risen to the upper house is Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, who defeated David L. Walcott in Massachusetts. Gillett has been in the house for 32 years, and has been speaker during the last six. He will be one of the Coolidge leaders in the senate.

Sackett, Tyson Business Men.

The two business men are Frederick M. Sackett, republican, who defeated Senator Swope, of Kentucky, and Lawrence D. Tyson, democrat, who ousted Shields in Tennessee primaries. Sackett is connected with various corporations in Louisiana. Tyson is a brigadier general in the war, and was awarded the D. S. M. for extraordinary gallantry in action.

The other democrat is Sam Bratton, of New Mexico, who defeated Senator Bursum, a regular republican.

"Bootlegging" of Aliens

BY JOHN L. LEWIS
President of the United Mine Workers of America

(The illegal entry of aliens across the Mexican and Canadian borders is creating a situation for which the secretary of labor is seeking a legislative remedy, according to recent reports.)

Right now, when there is widespread unemployment in the United States, is a good time to give thought to the shameful business of "bootlegging" aliens into this country from Canada and Mexico.

It is a burning shame for these employers to force good American citizens to walk the streets jobless while they illegally import aliens into the country by bootleg methods to work for starvation wages. Congress could do no better thing at this moment than to enact a law that would make it impossible for this thing to continue and then make ample provision for the strict enforcement of the exclusion law.

Thousands of Mexican laborers have been sneaked into the United States and put to work in coal mines, taking jobs that rightfully belong to good Americans. It is merely another of the lawless methods of certain big employers to batter down the level of wages of the workers of the country. These employers have but one thought in mind, and that is dividends and profits, and they can make large profits by employing Mexican cheap labor in preference to American labor.

What the United States needs is an immigration law, rigidly enforced, that would keep out this undesirable class of laborers. It should be a law with teeth in it and it should be enforced with all of the vigor and all of the resources of the American government.

It is a burning shame for these employers to force good American citizens to walk the streets jobless while they illegally import aliens into the country by bootleg methods to work for starvation wages. Congress could do no better thing at this moment than to enact a law that would make it impossible for this thing to continue and then make ample provision for the strict enforcement of the exclusion law.

It is asserted in Mr. Calhoun's statement that Frank Deans, never denied access to R. E. Deans, as is alleged by the Michigan youth.

Frank Deans and his mother are now in Greensboro, N. C., in search of records to establish the fact that the latter was married to R. E. Deans in that city several years ago.

The statement of Mr. Calhoun follows: "My clients, the immediate family of Mr. R. E. Deans, deceased, have steadfastly refused to be drawn into a discussion of the facts surrounding the making of the will of the late Mr. Deans as well as the subsequent proceedings brought by one Frank Deans."

"They know nothing of the making of the will and do not know the contents of the same until after the death and burial of Mr. Deans."

"They have no knowledge of Frank Deans, and certainly they have never denied him any approach to Mr. Deans, deceased, nor have they at any time placed any obstacle in the way of his communicating with and before his death. They have never seen any letters to him from Frank Deans. Nor have they at any time made any effort to keep any flowers or communications away from him."

"Mr. Deans for twelve years prior to his death, and since his coming to Atlanta, had made his home with his mother, brother and sister, where he resided until the date of his death, and none of the claims made by or for Frank Deans were ever known to them."

"My clients were very greatly surprised at the news of the suit brought against them by Frank Deans and the subsequent publicity given to the same by the plaintiff in the suit. They have been and are still content to have the legal investigation into the claims made by Frank Deans made by the court where it should properly be had and they will be ready for the investigation into the facts when the same is reached in its order by the court."

"The entire proceedings surrounding the probating of the will of Mr. Deans, entered into regularly and orderly as investigation of the same will disclose."

Washington, March 1.—Colonel John C. Coolidge will drive his own rig on the first leg of his journey to Washington to see his son, Calvin, inaugurated as president.

He told today of the plans for the journey, the third to Washington since his son became vice president four years ago. Early tomorrow morning he will hitch his horse to a buggy and drive the 12 miles to Ludlow. Then he will stable his horse to wait his return.

Colonel Coolidge will attend the regular monthly meeting tomorrow of the directors of the Ludlow Savings bank, of which he is vice president. At 7:40 p. m. he will board the special train from Burlington which connects with the Washingtonian at Bellows Falls, arriving in Washington at 2:25 on Tuesday afternoon. As the guest of Governor Franklin S. Billings he will occupy a stateroom in the governor's private car. Besides Governor and Mrs. Billings, the party will include John B. Sargent, husband of Mrs. Coolidge, and Morris Bradley, a native of Plymouth.

Officers of the national guard of Vermont and a 50-piece band of the University of Vermont will accompany the party.

Colonel Coolidge today declared he could not say when he would return. Having once himself administered the oath of office to the president with the use of the family Bible by lamplight in his own home, he did not appear to be particularly impressed by the ceremony about to be performed in more pretentious surroundings.

Before cutting cake which is iced, hold the knife in boiling water for a few seconds and you will be able to cut without the ice breaking.

DEANS HEIRS DENY CHARGES OF YOUTH

BY JOHN L. LEWIS
President of the United Mine Workers of America

(The illegal entry of aliens across the Mexican and Canadian borders is creating a situation for which the secretary of labor is seeking a legislative remedy, according to recent reports.)

Right now, when there is widespread unemployment in the United States, is a good time to give thought to the shameful business of "bootlegging" aliens into this country from Canada and Mexico.

It is a burning shame for these employers to force good American citizens to walk the streets jobless while they illegally import aliens into the country by bootleg methods to work for starvation wages. Congress could do no better thing at this moment than to enact a law that would make it impossible for this thing to continue and then make ample provision for the strict enforcement of the exclusion law.

Thousands of Mexican laborers have been sneaked into the United States and put to work in coal mines, taking jobs that rightfully belong to good Americans. It is merely another of the lawless methods of certain big employers to batter down the level of wages of the workers of the country. These employers have but one thought in mind, and that is dividends and profits, and they can make large profits by employing Mexican cheap labor in preference to American labor.

What the United States needs is an immigration law, rigidly enforced, that would keep out this undesirable class of laborers. It should be a law with teeth in it and it should be enforced with all of the vigor and all of the resources of the American government.

It is a burning shame for these employers to force good American citizens to walk the streets jobless while they illegally import aliens into the country by bootleg methods to work for starvation wages. Congress could do no better thing at this moment than to enact a law that would make it impossible for this thing to continue and then make ample provision for the strict enforcement of the exclusion law.

It is asserted in Mr. Calhoun's statement that Frank Deans, never denied access to R. E. Deans, as is alleged by the Michigan youth.

Frank Deans and his mother are now in Greensboro, N. C., in search of records to establish the fact that the latter was married to R. E. Deans in that city several years ago.

The statement of Mr. Calhoun follows: "My clients, the immediate family of Mr. R. E. Deans, deceased, have steadfastly refused to be drawn into a discussion of the facts surrounding the making of the will of the late Mr. Deans as well as the subsequent proceedings brought by one Frank Deans."

"They know nothing of the making of the will and do not know the contents of the same until after the death and burial of Mr. Deans."

"They have no knowledge of Frank Deans, and certainly they have never denied him any approach to Mr. Deans, deceased, nor have they at any time placed any obstacle in the way of his communicating with and before his death. They have never seen any letters to him from Frank Deans. Nor have they at any time made any effort to keep any flowers or communications away from him."

"Mr. Deans for twelve years prior to his death, and since his coming to Atlanta, had made his home with his mother, brother and sister, where he resided until the date of his death, and none of the claims made by or for Frank Deans were ever known to them."

"My clients were very greatly surprised at the news of the suit brought against them by Frank Deans and the subsequent publicity given to the same by the plaintiff in the suit. They have been and are still content to have the legal investigation into the claims made by Frank Deans made by the court where it should properly be had and they will be ready for the investigation into the facts when the same is reached in its order by the court."

"The entire proceedings surrounding the probating of the will of Mr. Deans, entered into regularly and orderly as investigation of the same will disclose."

Washington, March 1.—Colonel John C. Coolidge will drive his own rig on the first leg of his journey to Washington to see his son, Calvin, inaugurated as president.

He told today of the plans for the journey, the third to Washington since his son became vice president four years ago. Early tomorrow morning he will hitch his horse to a buggy and drive the 12 miles to Ludlow. Then he will stable his horse to wait his return.

Colonel Coolidge will attend the regular monthly meeting tomorrow of the directors of the Ludlow Savings bank, of which he is vice president. At 7:40 p. m. he will board the special train from Burlington which connects with the Washingtonian at Bellows Falls, arriving in Washington at 2:25 on Tuesday afternoon. As the guest of Governor Franklin S. Billings he will occupy a stateroom in the governor's private car. Besides Governor and Mrs. Billings, the party will include John B. Sargent, husband of Mrs. Coolidge, and Morris Bradley, a native of Plymouth.

Officers of the national guard of Vermont and a 50-piece band of the University of Vermont will accompany the party.

Colonel Coolidge today declared he could not say when he would return. Having once himself administered the oath of office to the president with the use of the family Bible by lamplight in his own home, he did not appear to be particularly impressed by the ceremony about to be performed in more pretentious surroundings.

Before cutting cake which is iced, hold the knife in boiling water for a few seconds and you will be able to cut without the ice breaking.

Elder Coolidge Drives Own Rig On Lap to Capital

BY JOHN L. LEWIS
President of the United Mine Workers of America

(The illegal entry of aliens across the Mexican and Canadian borders is creating a situation for which the secretary of labor is seeking a legislative remedy, according to recent reports.)

Right now, when there is widespread unemployment in the United States, is a good time to give thought to the shameful business of "bootlegging" aliens into this country from Canada and Mexico.

It is a burning shame for these employers to force good American citizens to walk the streets jobless while they illegally import aliens into the country by bootleg methods to work for starvation wages. Congress could do no better thing at this moment than to enact a law that would make it impossible for this thing to continue and then make ample provision for the strict enforcement of the exclusion law.

Thousands of Mexican laborers have been sneaked into the United States and put to work in coal mines, taking jobs that rightfully belong to good Americans. It is merely another of the lawless methods of certain big employers to batter down the level of wages of the workers of the country. These employers have but one thought in mind, and that is dividends and profits, and they can make large profits by employing Mexican cheap labor in preference to American labor.

What the United States needs is an immigration law, rigidly enforced, that would keep out this undesirable class of laborers. It should be a law with teeth in it and it should be enforced with all of the vigor and all of the resources of the American government.

It is a burning shame for these employers to force good American citizens to walk the streets jobless while they illegally import aliens into the country by bootleg methods to work for starvation wages. Congress could do no better thing at this moment than to enact a law that would make it impossible for this thing to continue and then make ample provision for the strict enforcement of the exclusion law.

It is asserted in Mr. Calhoun's statement that Frank Deans, never denied access to R. E. Deans, as is alleged by the Michigan youth.

Frank Deans and his mother are now in Greensboro, N. C., in search of records to establish the fact that the latter was married to R. E. Deans in that city several years ago.

The statement of Mr. Calhoun follows: "My clients, the immediate family of Mr. R. E. Deans, deceased, have steadfastly refused to be drawn into a discussion of the facts surrounding the making of the will of the late Mr. Deans as well as the subsequent proceedings brought by one Frank Deans."

"They know nothing of the making of the will and do not know the contents of the same until after the death and burial of Mr. Deans."

"They have no knowledge of Frank Deans, and certainly they have never denied him any approach to Mr. Deans, deceased, nor have they at any time placed any obstacle in the way of his communicating with and before his death. They have never seen any letters to him from Frank Deans. Nor have they at any time made any effort to keep any flowers or communications away from him."

"Mr. Deans for twelve years prior to his death, and since his coming to Atlanta, had made his home with his mother, brother and sister, where he resided until the date of his death, and none of the claims made by or for Frank Deans were ever known to them."

"My clients were very greatly surprised at the news of the suit brought against them by Frank Deans and the subsequent publicity given to the same by the plaintiff in the suit. They have been and are still content to have the legal investigation into the claims made by Frank Deans made by the court where it should properly be had and they will be ready for the investigation into the facts when the same is reached in its order by the court."

"The entire proceedings surrounding the probating of the will of Mr. Deans, entered into regularly and orderly as investigation of the same will disclose."

Washington, March 1.—Colonel John C. Coolidge will drive his own rig on the first leg of his journey to Washington to see his son, Calvin, inaugurated as president.

He told today of the plans for the journey, the third to Washington since his son became vice president four years ago. Early tomorrow morning he will hitch his horse to a buggy and drive the 12 miles to Ludlow. Then he will stable his horse to wait his return.

Colonel Coolidge will attend the regular monthly meeting tomorrow of the directors of the Ludlow Savings bank, of which he is vice president. At 7:40 p. m. he will board the special train from Burlington which connects with the Washingtonian at Bellows Falls, arriving in Washington at 2:25 on Tuesday afternoon. As the guest of Governor Franklin S. Billings he will occupy a stateroom in the governor's private car. Besides Governor and Mrs. Billings, the party will include John B. Sargent, husband of Mrs. Coolidge, and Morris Bradley, a native of Plymouth.

Officers of the national guard of Vermont and a 50-piece band of the University of Vermont will accompany the party.

Colonel Coolidge today declared he could not say when he would return. Having once himself administered the oath of office to the president with the use of the family Bible by lamplight in his own home, he did not appear to be particularly impressed by the ceremony about to be performed in more pretentious surroundings.

Before cutting cake which is iced, hold the knife in boiling water for a few seconds and you will be able to cut without the ice breaking.

Before cutting cake which is iced, hold the knife in boiling water for a few seconds and you will be able to cut without the ice breaking.

Before cutting cake which is iced, hold the knife in boiling water for a few seconds and you will be able to cut without the ice breaking.

DIXIE COACHES
To Athens, 8 A. M., 3 P. M.
Rome 8 A. M.
82 N. BROAD

VENUS PENCILS

17 Black degrees
3 Copying

The largest selling quality pencil in the world

At all dealers

Do you realize what 17 VENUS Pencil degrees really mean?

VENUS 6B is as soft as crayon—while VENUS 9H is so hard it will write on stone! For a soft pencil for general use, ask for VENUS B.

Plain Ends, per doz. . . $1.00
Rubber Ends, per doz. . . $1.20

American Lead Pencil Co., 220 Fifth Ave., N. Y.
Write for "Venus Pencil Booklet"

America's most famous Spa

Rock Island

Memphis to Hot Springs

Shortest line

YOU can make the income which you leave your wife exempt from both income and inheritance taxes by taking a monthly income policy in the Mutual Benefit.

MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE
INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J.
ROBERT L. FOREMAN, STATE AGENT
ATLANTA

Meals? "THE BEST ON WHEELS"

The Hot Springs season is now at its height. Golfing, horseback riding—every facility for recreation and recuperation. Luxurious hotels and baths that quickly build up vitality.

2 Fast Trains Daily
Lv. Memphis 9:30 a. m.
11:59 p. m.
Carries Observation Car. Sleeper open at 9:30 p. m.
For fares, reservations and information, apply to
C. F. Bradley, District Passenger Agent
Rock Island Lines
218 Healey Bldg., Phone Walnut 1948
Atlanta, Ga.

Five Years of Achievement

Five years ago, on March 1, 1920, government operation of railroads ended. Compare the transportation situation then with that of today . . .

During Federal control railroad officers, though in general left in charge of the details of operation, carried out, often over their protest, policies decided upon by the Railroad Administration in Washington. These policies greatly increased railroad expenses. This was done without corresponding increase in rates. The United States treasury shouldered the deficit.

For five years, now, the railroads have been operated by their owners, subject to government regulation.

During 1924 the railroads handled more tonnage than in 1919. They did it with fewer employees, paying them higher wages. They did it without car shortage, delay or congestion, as contrasted with the tremendous congestion of the last year of government operation. Satisfactory service has replaced delays and losses to shippers and consumers.

In 1919 the tax-payers of the country were bearing a loss of about forty million dollars a month on the railroads. In 1924 the railroads paid their own way, even though their taxes have been increased nearly one hundred million dollars since 1919.

These great achievements have been made possible by the cooperation of shippers and consumers in cutting down delays of all sorts; by the cooperation of employees; and by the willingness of owners and investors to use nearly three billion dollars of their own money to improve the railroads.

This willingness has been due to confidence in the efficiency of private management and to the Transportation Act of 1920 which says, in effect, that since government agencies control all railroad revenues and much of their expenses this control shall be so used as to give the railroads a chance to earn a fair return on their actual value.

The great achievements of the past five years have been accomplished with an average freight rate but 55 per cent above that of 1913, or 15 per cent above that of 1919. There have been few commodities or services whose charges have increased so little during the past decade.

The improvements of the past five years in service, efficiency and economy can be duplicated or surpassed in the future if a policy of allowing the railroads a fair chance to live and prosper is continued. Shippers, consumers, all who use the railroads, will reap the advantages of such a policy. Let trained men run the railroads.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway
W. R. COLE, President

HEALTH TALKS BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

FOOD ACIDS, SOUL STOMACH.
Overeating, practically of meat and bread, induces an excessive flow of gastric juice, and if overeating is a fixed habit, hyperacidity of the stomach, "acid dyspepsia," hyperchlorhydria or "sour stomach" becomes an established complaint.

In order to clarify state of confusion let us first agree what we are talking about before we get into a quarrel about acids. The healthy stomach is very sour when a meal is digested; the normal gastric juice contains about 0.5 per cent of hydrochloric acid, and even after admixture with the food the chyme contains about 0.2 per cent of hydrochloric acid. That's sour enough, as anybody who has ever belched a little of it into the throat can testify.

But overeating acids may be produced from excessive fermentation of carbohydrates or fats, such as lactic acid and butyric acid, and these, too, may give rise to complaints. Then there are acids in foods, some natural food acids, some added by man. Finally, certain acids are produced in the body by the metabolism or combustion process, and these acids have to do with the condition known as acidosis, but they have little or no bearing on acidity of the stomach.

The natural food acids are mainly the fruit acids, citric, malic, tartaric, benzoic. The acid of grapefruit, oranges, lemons and other citrus fruits is citric. The acid of apples, peaches, apricots, pears, plums and plums in malic. The acid of grapes and raisins is tartaric. Certain foods, such as cranberries, plums and prunes contain some benzoic acid, and others, such as tomatoes, strawberries, cocoa, potatoes, rhubarb and spinach, contain some oxalic acid and sometimes the physician finds it advisable to forbid such items in the diet of special cases, though as a general rule all of the items named tend to oppose acidosis in the system.

A very liberal use of tomatoes, several pounds a day, for example, will increase the alkalinity of the blood and decrease acidity in the system.

The liberal use of oranges, lemons, grapefruit or other citrus fruits, though sometimes unsuitable in the diet of an individual with hyperacidity of the stomach, is certain to oppose acidosis in the system, to increase the alkalinity of the blood and decrease the acidity of the urine, because the citric acid is oxidized in the blood, into carbonic acid which combines with sodium, potassium or magnesium to form alkaline salts of these elements—carbonates. A similar rule holds true regarding all fruit and vegetable acids. But there are certain natural acids in fruits or vegetables which cannot be utilized by the body. Another acid, usually added to food by man, is more commonly injurious in this way—the acetic acid in vinegar; this acid cannot be oxidized by man and is without food value of any description and therefore must be classed as a poison, since it does produce deleterious effects when freely taken. Lemon juice is an excellent substitute for vinegar when a tart flavor is desired. It should be used instead of vinegar by anyone who has either gastric hyperacidity or a tendency to acidosis in the system, for it is of some food value and at least opposes the acidosis.

(Copyright, 1925, for The Constitution.)

R. O. T. C. SUMMER CAMPS FOR TECH BOYS ANNOUNCED

Location for R. O. T. C. summer military camps has been received at Georgia Tech. The North avenue institution has the largest college unit in the south and the training course each summer offers advanced work for lieutenants in the officers' reserve. Dates and locations follow:

Signal corps to Camp Alfred Vail, N. J., June 15 to July 27; ordnance corps to Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., June 15 to July 27; air service to Maxwell Field, Ala., June 12 to July 24; coast artillery to Fort Barrancas, Gulf Coast, Fla., June 12 to July 27; infantry units to Camp McClellan, Ala., June 12 to July 24.

HISTORY OF NEGRO Y. M. C. A. IS TOLD DORMITORY MEN

Dormitory men of the Butler Street branch of the Y. M. C. A. at their monthly meeting Sunday morning were given an account of the early beginnings of the association in Atlanta by Dr. H. R. Butler, one of the founders.

Dr. Butler told of the vision of a few Atlantans who wanted to do something for the men and boys that would help them to live better lives and contribute their might to building up the community. He said that he wanted the young men to know something of the sacrifices that had been made by the men and women who laid the foundation of the work that is now being carried out today.

The speaker paid tribute to the late W. A. Hunton, the first international secretary for the colored men's department of the Y. M. C. A. in this country, and urged those present to keep up the good work and help the boys of today.

Hotel McAlpin
Broadway at 34th Street
THE HOME OF
W. M. C. A.
RADIO BROADCASTING STATION
"WHERE THE WHITE WAY BEGINS"

DEBATORS NAMED AT GEORGIA TECH FOR BIG CONTEST

Four Georgia Tech students have been selected for the varsity debating team against representatives of Mercer university and the University of Alabama. J. M. Gidger, Asheville, N. C.; W. E. Smith, Fitzgerald; T. Dunkin and Herndon Thomas, Atlanta, were chosen from a field of 15 candidates.

T. A. Middlebrooks, O. C. Custer and B. L. Crew are the freshmen chosen as debaters against Emory university first year men.

For the varsity debating team a triangular debate with Mercer university and University of Alabama already has been arranged. Last year the same program was carried out, the first in many years for Georgia Tech. Dates and subjects for this year have not been arranged.

FIXED PURPOSE IN LIFE NEEDED STATES PASTOR

"A man with a fixed purpose in life will educate his children, provide his family with the necessities of life, pay his honest debts, live in peace and make friends with his neighbors," declared Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, in the prelude of a special sermon delivered in Pleasant Valley A. M. E. church Sunday morning to the colored citizens of Atlanta.

"A fixed purpose in rearing children will do more to lessen crime in the city among colored people than all other agencies," said Holmes.

Rev. Horace Williams, pastor, said the Holmes institute was the greatest blessing ever given to the colored people of Atlanta in training the colored children to be useful citizens.

EDMONDS ADDRESSES TECH JUNIOR CLASS

Provost C. K. Edmonds, of Johns Hopkins university, Saturday morning addressed the Georgia Tech junior classes on the "Physical Aspects of China." Juniors and faculty assembled in the physics lecture room for the address, which dealt especially with the more technical aspects of China and its problems.

A Frank Talk to the Man or Woman Planning to Visit New York

WHATEVER success I have had as the Managing Director of the great Hotel McAlpin, I credit to but one thing. My ability to get the viewpoint of the visitor to New York to understand his or her wishes and desires—to sympathize with one away from the familiar comforts of his own home.

I am very sensitive as to what my guests think of the McAlpin. Whatever they may think—good or bad—reflects upon me. I've been over the country and often longed to give the discriminating traveling public what I've seen lacking in the average hotel.

So the McAlpin offers you just what I would expect from the finest hotel in the world. What I expect—and what you get at the McAlpin—is this: Clean, cheerful rooms—with unlimited service at limited expense.

The cozy comfort of your own home—with very modern convenience at your fingers' tips.

The finest food in the world—served while the most bewitching dance music plays. I want you to think well of my great City of New York—and I can do this only by having you think well of the McAlpin.

So I invite you here—wire, write or phone—and I assure you the kind of treatment you would like if you yourself were the manager of the McAlpin.

Arthur H. Phipps
Managing Director

The black-tipped, Chinese lacquer-red beauty that's harder to lose than plain black pens

Point Guaranteed for 25 Years

THOUGH classic Duofold is made in plain black too, we recommend the black-tipped lacquer-red because it's hard to mislay.

Only the Parker has these creations that abolish long-standing pen

Final Result of Atlanta Constitution's Cross-Figure Puzzle

Giving the Winning Answers and the Names of the Successful Prize-Winning Contestants

There Were Many Solutions Received in the First Puzzle

There Were Only 30 Prizes Offered

Rule No. 7 in the original or first cross-figure puzzle read as follows: "In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied for any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions, and another puzzle will be submitted to those tied." That is, if two or more people should tie on the best solution, the first, second or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be rewarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle.

Rule No. 8 stated: "In the event of ties for any prize or prizes, a second puzzle of the same type as this cross-figure puzzle will be presented to those tied to solve. However, instead of single figures, the numbers will consist of double figures, such as 15, 24, 36, etc., and the problem will be to construct a chain of circles across the chart so as to obtain the greatest difference between the sum total of the even and the sum total of the odd figures within the circles. If necessary to dispose of further ties, this puzzle will be presented for as many as five additional times under slightly changed conditions and rules, after which, should any ties exist, each contestant will receive the full value of whatever prize he wins."

There were approximately 800 who sent in the correct solution in the cross-figure puzzle. Since there were only 30 prizes, it was therefore, under the rules, necessary to set aside all of the 30 prizes, and send to each one tying the second puzzle, which was done as announced in the Daily Constitution of Monday, February 2, 1925.

Many Solutions Received in the Second Puzzle

After checking diligently for several days on the many solutions sent by contestants in the second puzzle, it was found that there were no ties on the best solution submitted, the best solution being 13,754.

Six Ties on Second Best Solution

The second best solution was 13,674, on which there were six ties. Under the rules, it was therefore necessary to set aside from the original prize list second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh prizes to be reserved for those tying on the second best answer received in this tie-breaking contest. There being no further ties on the remaining twenty-three best answers received in this, the first tie-breaking contest, were awarded prizes. Their names and addresses, the answers submitted, and the prizes entitled to are shown in this announcement.

22 53 16 29 63 79 22 16 29 63 47 52 55 82 41 99 72 91 38 97 68 76 91 31 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
17 85 11 42 72 33 80 73 27 18 92 68 98 11 39 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 79 48 92 44 49 72 99 11 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 99 67 49 63 81 56 19
36 76 86 39 58 67 99 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 19 99 67 49 72 99 11 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 99 67 49 63 81 56 19
65 43 51 80 72 21 73 55 96 46 97 79 90 73 83 77 23 66 67 13 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
56 86 95 55 16 67 49 99 14 83 11 46 11 71 92 54 89 78 68 99 13 68 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
76 16 46 18 55 55 16 67 49 99 14 83 11 46 11 71 92 54 89 78 68 99 13 68 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
72 91 38 18 77 69 55 19 76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
96 43 26 85 57 99 81 13 23 61 12 33 24 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
70 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
96 18 75 55 91 90 19 21 68 99 48 61 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
27 18 92 68 98 11 39 48 77 73 79 66 67 94 18 53 66 87 72 36 97 67 61 40 14 99 64 33 16 51 22 51 69 86 12 22 99 61 19 39 87 33 12 77
99 99 13 63 22 35 55 86 13 29 77 43 37 46 76 77 23 66 87 13 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
51 21 21 38 55 13 71 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
73 25 86 21 76 45 82 67 49 63 81 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 39 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
19 93 13 63 22 35 55 86 13 29 77 43 37 46 76 77 23 66 87 13 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
12 73 36 45 64 46 81 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 92 54 89 78 68 99 13 68 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
53 77 33 70 15 73 81 99 72 91 38 18 77 69 55 19 76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
40 14 99 64 33 16 51 22 51 69 86 12 22 99 61 19 39 87 33 12 77
13 29 77 48 37 46 76 99 72 91 38 18 77 69 55 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
48 92 44 72 99 11 84 73 62 99 76 35 16 12 33 99 65 42 51 80 72 24 73 24 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
91 73 46 61 40 14 99 55 96 46 97 79 90 73 83 89 81 17 36 28 41 16 61 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
71 21 38 55 13 71 99 88 73 81 13 25 61 12 33 24 22 53 16 29 63 55 14 55 53 77 33 70 15 73 81 99 72 91 38 18 77 69 55 19 76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
36 76 86 39 58 67 99 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
22 53 16 29 63 79 22 16 29 63 47 52 55 82 41 99 72 91 38 97 68 76 91 31 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
91 73 46 61 40 14 99 64 33 16 51 22 51 69 86 12 22 99 61 19 39 87 33 12 77

This chart, No. 2, represents the second best solution 13,674, on which there were six ties, necessitating the chart with different rules to be submitted to the six to break the ties.

SECOND TIE-BREAKING PUZZLE SUBMITTED TO THE SIX CONTESTANTS WHO TIED ON THE SECOND BEST SOLUTION—13,674

Saturday evening, February 21, the same chart as submitted in the first tie-breaking contest was mailed to the six following parties who tied on the second best answer, with rules as given below. Those tying were:

1. Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson, 315 Washington Ave., Marietta, Ga.
2. C. Cornwall, Alto, Ga.
3. R. L. Aycock, P. O. Box 1342, Atlanta, Ga.
4. Miss Nellie Brown, 446 N. Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.
5. M. Kunsberg, 28 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.
6. T. L. Grant, 747 Reynolds St., Augusta, Ga.

THE PROBLEM FOR THE THIRD (OR SECOND TIE-BREAKING) PUZZLE IN THE CROSS-FIGURE CONTEST OF THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Draw a continuous chain of circles across the face of the chart, observing the following rules:

Begin at any number you wish in the extreme left hand column. Proceed either directly to the right or straight up and down not less than four nor more than seven circles in any one direction.

You may zigzag backwards and forwards as often as you may desire, touching the extreme left if you find it advisable as often as you may desire, both the upper and lower columns as desired, and as often as desired, and finally ending in the right hand column. After you once reach the right hand column, you cannot leave it.

You can go up or down the right hand column after you reach it either four, five, six or seven.

Each section of the chain must consist of either four, five, six or seven circles. By section is meant four, five, six or seven circles in a straight line.

The problem consists of drawing your chain so as to obtain the greatest difference you can between the sum totals of the odd and even numbers within the circles. It makes no difference which is the largest sum total, whether the even or odd. It is the greatest difference between the two.

Those submitting the greatest difference, irrespective of what the greatest possible difference is, will be awarded the prizes in accordance with their respective differences. That is, the contestant obtaining the greatest difference will be awarded the first prize in this tie-breaking problem, and so on.

Wherever a section of the chain is drawn to the left, or in any case where two sections or parts of sections run parallel, there must be at least one row of figures between them so as to preserve clearly the course of the chain. By parallel is meant where two sections run alongside of each other.

It is permissible for two corner circles to touch obliquely. In determining the number of circles in each section, count the last circle in one section as the first in the next, but in totaling the figures encircled, the numbers in the corner circles are to be counted but once.

Contestants must inclose with their charts a list of the numbers encircled, showing the even numbers in one column, and the odd numbers in another. This memorandum will expedite checking up the totals.

In the event of ties on this, the second tie-breaking puzzle, the rule for eliminating such ties as prescribed in the original contest will be effective. In case of ties in this, the second tie-breaking puzzle, it might be added that the lesser number of circles will be considered a better answer than the same result with a larger number of circles. This, however, will apply only in ties, and has no bearing on the result in any way except in ties.

Special attention is called to the last two paragraphs in the inclosed, under the head of "The Problem."

This is mailed Saturday night, so that it should reach all of the six contestants by Monday morning. You, and the other five, are given Monday, Tuesday and up until Wednesday, the 25th, midnight, to mail your answers. Answers from each one of the six must be sent by mail.

Remember that midnight, Wednesday, February 25, is the latest that your answer can be mailed. Address: Cross Figure Puzzle Contest Manager, Circulation Dept., Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

The best answer submitted in the third puzzle, or the second tie-breaking puzzle, the one submitted to the six tying, was 47,477, which was submitted by Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson, 315 Washington Ave., Marietta, Ga., entitling her to $500.00. The winners of this third or second tie-breaking puzzle, are given elsewhere on this page.

The winner of the first prize in the second or first tie-breaking contest was J. S. Cain, P. O. Box 1528, Birmingham, Ala., entitling him to $1,000.00. All of the prize winners were fully qualified by having paid $9.50 for twelve months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution.

22 53 16 29 63 79 22 16 29 63 47 52 55 82 41 99 72 91 38 97 68 76 91 31 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
17 85 11 42 72 33 80 73 27 18 92 68 98 11 39 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 79 48 92 44 49 72 99 11 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 99 67 49 63 81 56 19
36 76 86 39 58 67 99 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 19 99 67 49 72 99 11 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 99 67 49 63 81 56 19
65 43 51 80 72 21 73 55 96 46 97 79 90 73 83 77 23 66 67 13 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
56 86 95 55 16 67 49 99 14 83 11 46 11 71 92 54 89 78 68 99 13 68 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
76 16 46 18 55 55 16 67 49 99 14 83 11 46 11 71 92 54 89 78 68 99 13 68 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
72 91 38 18 77 69 55 19 76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
96 43 26 85 57 99 81 13 23 61 12 33 24 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
70 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
96 18 75 55 91 90 19 21 68 99 48 61 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
27 18 92 68 98 11 39 48 77 73 79 66 67 94 18 53 66 87 72 36 97 67 61 40 14 99 64 33 16 51 22 51 69 86 12 22 99 61 19 39 87 33 12 77
99 99 13 63 22 35 55 86 13 29 77 43 37 46 76 77 23 66 87 13 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
51 21 21 38 55 13 71 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
73 25 86 21 76 45 82 67 49 63 81 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 39 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
19 93 13 63 22 35 55 86 13 29 77 43 37 46 76 77 23 66 87 13 22 69 18 22 76 16 46 18 55 55 66 81 17 85 11 42 72 33 80 18 91 73 99 55 71
12 73 36 45 64 46 81 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 92 54 89 78 68 99 13 68 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 67 18 33 65 11 43 99 74 13 23 61 12 33 24
53 77 33 70 15 73 81 99 72 91 38 18 77 69 55 19 76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
40 14 99 64 33 16 51 22 51 69 86 12 22 99 61 19 39 87 33 12 77
13 29 77 48 37 46 76 99 72 91 38 18 77 69 55 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
48 92 44 72 99 11 84 73 62 99 76 35 16 12 33 99 65 42 51 80 72 24 73 24 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
91 73 46 61 40 14 99 55 96 46 97 79 90 73 83 89 81 17 36 28 41 16 61 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
71 21 38 55 13 71 99 88 73 81 13 25 61 12 33 24 22 53 16 29 63 55 14 55 53 77 33 70 15 73 81 99 72 91 38 18 77 69 55 19 76 19 37 22 13 69 63 73 91 49 11 94 93 18 63 31 23 15 22 64 75 94 33 21 76 29 80 83 67 39 78 34 24 22 53
36 76 86 39 58 67 99 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 88 46 86 72 57 81 36 23 77 58 76 39 76 74 22 99 18 36 69 14 12 42 16 28 77 96 22 67 74 77 97 88 12 86 11 31 13 23
22 53 16 29 63 79 22 16 29 63 47 52 55 82 41 99 72 91 38 97 68 76 91 31 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
91 73 46 61 40 14 99 64 33 16 51 22 51 69 86 12 22 99 61 19 39 87 33 12 77

Chart No. 1, representing the best answer received in the second or first tie-breaking contest, was submitted by J. S. Cain, P. O. Box 1528, Birmingham, Ala., entitling him to first prize, $1,000.00.

PRIZE WINNERS IN THE FIRST TIE-BREAKING CONTEST OF THE CROSS-FIGURE PUZZLE

NAME	ADDRESS	SOLUTION	PRIZE
J. S. Cain, P. O. Box 1528, Birmingham, Ala.	13754	1st prize	$1000.00
Six prizes, from two to seven, inclusive, reserved according to the rules for the six persons tying on second best answer.
W. M. Bond, 360 Church St., Athens, Ga.	13671	8th prize	20.00
Mrs. E. W. Jackson, Bogart, Ga.	13671	9th prize	20.00
E. C. Addy, Baldwin, Ga.	13656	10th prize	10.00
G. B. Nunnally, 420 Yonah Ave., Athens, Ga.	13655	11th prize	10.00
Mrs. D. L. Prather, 32 Delaware Ave., Atlanta, Ga.	13640	12th prize	10.00
Mrs. Mable H. James, 319 Pine St., Albany, Ga.	13603	13th prize	10.00
J. C. Cooper, 179 W. Dougherty St., Athens, Ga.	13550	14th prize	10.00
C. S. Collins, 203 Hancock Ave., Athens, Ga.	13542	15th prize	10.00
W. P. Rambo, 806 E. Park Ave., Savannah, Ga.	13540	16th prize	10.00
Forrest White, 235 Oakland Ave., Atlanta, Ga.	13463	17th prize	10.00
E. E. Haskett, 12 East St., Fort McPherson, Ga.	13401	18th prize	10.00
C. S. Mize, 1728 Third St., Macon, Ga.	13333	19th prize	10.00
R. W. Evans, 201 Hines Terrace, Macon, Ga.	13299	20th prize	10.00
J. B. Wiggins, Sasser, Ga.	13196	21st prize	10.00
Mrs. M. J. Marshall, Hostess House, Ft. McPherson, Ga.	13194	22d prize	10.00
H. W. Malcolm, 247 W. Dougherty St., Athens, Ga.	13173	23d prize	10.00
Mrs. C. P. Hutchings, 647 Forsyth St., Macon, Ga.	13139	24th prize	10.00
G. B. Hulme, Kingston, Ga.	13123	25th prize	10.00
Waldo Anderson, 425 Church St., Athens, Ga.	13112	26th prize	10.00
A. C. Young, 2453 Second St., Macon, Ga.	13067	27th prize	10.00
P. L. Daniel, Hostess House, Fort McPherson, Ga.	13066	28th prize	10.00
Captain S. Wright, Box 413, Gainesville, Ga.	13046	29th prize	10.00
Alfred W. Scott, care University of Georgia, Athens, Ga.	13041	30th prize	10.00

PRIZE WINNERS IN SECOND TIE-BREAKING CONTEST OF THE CROSS-FIGURE PUZZLE

NAME	ADDRESS	SOLUTION	PRIZE
Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson, 315 Washington Ave., Marietta, Ga.	17477	1st prize	$500.00
C. Cornwall, Alto, Ga.	17462	2d prize	400.00
R. L. Aycock, P. O. Box 1342, Atlanta, Ga.	17459	3d prize	250.00
Miss Nellie Brown, 446 N. Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.	17457	4th prize	100.00
M. Kunsberg, 28 Walton St., Atlanta, Ga.	17452	5th prize	50.00
T. L. Grant, 747 Reynolds St., Augusta, Ga.	16928	6th prize	25.00

22 53 16 29 63 79 22 16 29 63 47 52 55 82 41 99 72 91 38 97 68 76 91 31 91 73 46 61 40 14 99 63 99 86 55 87 33 16 72 91 38 87 43 81
17 85 11 42 72 33 80 73 27 18 92 68 98 11 39 24 36 76 86 39 58 67 99 79 48 92 44 49 72 99 11 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 99 67 49 63 81 56 19
36 76 86 39 58 67 99 56 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 19 99 67 49 72 99 11 19 71 21 38 55 13 71 99 67 49 63 81 56 19
65 43 51 80 72 21 73 55 96 46 97 79 90 73 83 77 23 66 67 13 22 69

News of Society and Woman's Work

THE CONSTITUTION'S DAILY WOMAN'S MAGAZINE

Features Which Will Interest
Every Woman

Brides and Brides-Elect Are Entertained in Marietta

The outstanding social event of the week was the bridge party given on Monday afternoon at the Marietta Golf club by Mrs. Morgan McNeil, Jr., complimenting Mrs. Eugene McNeil, a recent bride, and Miss Virginia Boston, a popular bride-elect.

Mrs. McNeil was assisted in entertaining and serving by Mrs. Charles DeForest, Mrs. Frank McNeil and Miss Margaret McNeil. About 50 guests were entertained.

Mrs. E. Gilbert entertained her class in expression and dancing on Tuesday afternoon at a fancy costume party at her home on Forest avenue.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the younger society contingent was the treasure hunt given Friday night by the "Kitty Klub." The treasure, a five-pound gold coin, was found by Evelyn Latimer and Sterling Chalmers.

Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. John Boston, Miss Virginia Boston, Mrs. Ralph Northrup, Mrs. Leslie Blair and Miss Emma Katherine Anderson attended the reception given in Atlanta on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Hal Hutz in compliment to Miss Mary Brown Spaulding.

Miss Mary Holland entertained informally at bridge on Friday afternoon in compliment to Miss Laura Young, of Knoxville, Tenn., the guest of Miss Margaret Wilcox.

Thomas Nolan, of Emory university, spent the weekend with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Nolan, who were accompanied by Bruce White, of South Carolina, who is a student at Emory.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Mrs. W. W. Landin, of Atlanta, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Graves.

Mrs. John Manget, of Atlanta, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hardman, for the weekend.

Andrew College News Notes

The Sigma Tau Rho club entertained their guests Saturday with a 6 o'clock dinner. The guests, Misses Evelyn Robinson, of Cairo, Ga.; Evelyn Alexander, of Montezuma, Ga.; and Sallie Lou Powell, of Valdosta, Ga., were dressed in cross-word puzzle costumes. The table was only decorated with the cross-word puzzle idea was attractively carried out on the hand-painted place cards. Mrs. J. W. Pate and Miss Pauline Pike were special guests. Among those present were Misses Verona and Ernestine Killingsworth, Elizabeth Ham, Emily Van Landingham and Mae Walker.

Misses Maude and Virginia McGregor entertained a number of their college friends with a house party at their home in Dunwoody, Ga., last week-end. Those present from the college were Misses Dorothy James, Elizabeth Enecks and Clara Sue McCormick.

The sophomore basketball team of Andrew College will play the Cuthbert High school girls' team Monday afternoon, March 2, on the college court. The members of the sophomore team are Misses Verona Killingsworth, Louise Haddock, Lois Whitford, Marion Parnell, Elizabeth Mallett, Catherine Lunn and Carrie Towns.

tion is pending; that is, indorsing or refusing to indorse "principles" of legislation rather than specific bills. The reason for this action Mrs. Clarke is of course quite familiar with; an amendment may entirely change the complexion of a bill so that the organization favoring the bill as it stood originally could not approve its passage in the amended state; but would have no voice in congress to make plain its opinion as originally expressed.

The organized women of Georgia, it is needless to say, want such legislation as may be necessary for the proper safeguarding of children; the principle of protection they are keen for.

But like a majority of the men and the women of Ohio, Massachusetts and all the other states whose legislatures failed to pass the child labor amendment, the women of Georgia objected to the method of attack implied in turning over to federal control a matter which they considered belonged to the states. Just as I objected to Mrs. Clarke's method of attack; in other words, her technique.

The women of Georgia want improved legislation for children in industry, but in the meantime Mrs. Clarke may be assured that they are not neglecting the children of Georgia. The mountain children, the children on the farms, the children in the cities, who may be underprivileged, have a contact with the women of Georgia and a care from them which, I believe, if Mrs. Clarke studied the situation before she wrote her editorial, would have persuaded her that the women of Georgia are as fine and generous as the men. She could get some idea, although only a faint idea, of their work for and with children, from the files of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and other national organizations specializing in child welfare.

The women of Georgia do not have to be guided to their duty. The men should have known this. That is why the men of Georgia can afford to be so fine and generous.

CONCERNING the many fine and frank letters which Mrs. Clarke speaks of having received from all over Georgia, I should like to ask her and anybody in Georgia publishing in any newspaper any opinion as to why she should have been so favorable to her editorial as she found my article unfavorable? I should like to read it if anybody did.

I incidentally, the strongest approval of her editorial which came to my ears from Georgia came from a Georgia man.

I am glad that Mrs. Clarke, as she says at the end of her letter, feels kindly toward me personally, because I have a genuine appreciation for her fine qualities and for being a Georgian, and far-minded. The story is one of an usurper "Wang Mang" who the Chinese throne, who plots the death of "Ting Ling," the rightful ruler, but "Fanchang," the leader of an army known as "The Crimson Eyebrows" overthrows the usurper and restores the throne to "Ting Ling." The opera is being sponsored by and for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary of which Mrs. W. Norman Pool is president. Mrs. W. H. Dodge, Hemlock 3167 and Mrs. Margaret, Geneva 3164-W, are chairmen of tickets, which will on sale at Y. M. C. A., Cable Piano company and Tom Riffe. All auxiliary members are urged to help make the opera a success. Tickets are to be sold at the popular price of 25 cents.

Miss Ellen Ross Lightfoot will assist Mrs. Sumner in presenting the opera.

A big town house is a great care. Experienced servants must be reviewed daily. The chef's suggestions for the day's menu must be examined, even if one is not dining at home. The mistress and her social secretary have a busy hour or two of dictation each day.

Shops Brought to the Home. Then there are the many tailors. A vast amount of shopping is done in the homes. Jewels are displayed to Madame—and her strings of pearls resting in her boudoir perhaps. The tailor may bring samples of goods. Or a dealer has a bit of statuary or a very rare antique rug to exhibit. The children, whether they are under the care of a governess, or are away at school, or are grown and married, present problems to their social mistress. And who must the household sheltering a debutante, for therein is no peace.

During a season the society woman is a patient of several great social affairs, and they mean surprising hard work that cannot be delegated to hirelings.

With the day in a society home so often ending at 4 o'clock in the morning, it is nothing short of marvelous that so many men respect the usual hours of business—although the women's content with it, incomes and nonincomes, have no such rigorous seasons as the man of affairs in society. How these busy men retire at 4 a. m., breakfast at 8 a. m., looking fresh, devote themselves during the day to large affairs and the night to society, even snatching in one or two hours of dictation after dinner, or after theater, is nothing less than miraculous.

Yes, these are people quite apart, these so-called "folk." The sobriquet, "the don't do them justice," is really. The society life is different from what is usually imagined or pieced together. It is harder, more laborious, less entertaining than one would expect; more brilliant, more sumptuous and costly beyond belief.

Some matters are less impressive. One is the attitude of society toward food. I make this observation on the basis of a set of questions prepared for me, purporting to show the accepted beliefs of "the man in the street."

They Must Keep Their Figures. It is not true that society folk are epicures and devote a great deal of time to food?

Certainly not. It is true they are inured to rich food, but they eat little of it. They only dine once or twice a week. An average home dinner of five courses takes an American family but 25 or 30 minutes to consume. They eat like birds—to keep their figures. Slimness is the chief fashion of the fashionable today. Instead of elaborate midnight supper parties one finds highest society eating daintily of scrambled eggs and sausages. There is no striving for bewilderment variety. Perhaps there is not a night during the season of a debutante that she does not have a taste of chicken salad.

Tomorrow: The Dowager and the Dreadnought.

Great Britain and South America, by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

When you are told that many a debutante has broken down during her season, that many a society matron has been forced to retire forever from the ultra-fashionable stage because her strength was not equal to the demands, you will have a little idea of the rigors of amusements in the New York society machine.

You must give all of yourself, or nothing. What society is doing transcends all other interests. The society man and woman reads and discusses the news of highest society with as much regularity as a broker

Gifted Singers Will Take Part In Tuneful Chinese Operetta

Photo by Mathewson & Price

Mrs. Ralph Bailey, as Princess Ting Ling, and G. E. Rankin, as Fanchang, who will sing stellas roles in the Chinese operetta, "The Crimson Eyebrows," to be presented at Commercial High school Thursday evening, March 5.

A Chinese operetta "The Crimson Eyebrows" will be presented in the Commercial High school auditorium, Thursday evening, March 5, at 8:15 o'clock.

The pupils of Mrs. Carroll Sumner, of the Atlanta conservatory of music, will present this musical fantasy by H. H. Dodge and John W. Dodge. Among those taking part in the operetta are Aaron Caruso, as "Star Eye," G. E. Rankin as Fanchang, Mrs. Ralph Bailey as Princess Ting Ling, and Miss Virginia Moore as Buddha.

The leading soprano role is "Ting Ling" and the opera starts as a comedy, but ends as a tragedy. The story is one of an usurper "Wang Mang" who the Chinese throne, who plots the death of "Ting Ling," the rightful ruler, but "Fanchang," the leader of an army known as "The Crimson Eyebrows" overthrows the usurper and restores the throne to "Ting Ling." The opera is being sponsored by and for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary of which Mrs. W. Norman Pool is president. Mrs. W. H. Dodge, Hemlock 3167 and Mrs. Margaret, Geneva 3164-W, are chairmen of tickets, which will on sale at Y. M. C. A., Cable Piano company and Tom Riffe. All auxiliary members are urged to help make the opera a success. Tickets are to be sold at the popular price of 25 cents.

Shops Brought to the Home. Then there are the many tailors. A vast amount of shopping is done in the homes. Jewels are displayed to Madame—and her strings of pearls resting in her boudoir perhaps. The tailor may bring samples of goods. Or a dealer has a bit of statuary or a very rare antique rug to exhibit. The children, whether they are under the care of a governess, or are away at school, or are grown and married, present problems to their social mistress. And who must the household sheltering a debutante, for therein is no peace.

During a season the society woman is a patient of several great social affairs, and they mean surprising hard work that cannot be delegated to hirelings.

With the day in a society home so often ending at 4 o'clock in the morning, it is nothing short of marvelous that so many men respect the usual hours of business—although the women's content with it, incomes and nonincomes, have no such rigorous seasons as the man of affairs in society. How these busy men retire at 4 a. m., breakfast at 8 a. m., looking fresh, devote themselves during the day to large affairs and the night to society, even snatching in one or two hours of dictation after dinner, or after theater, is nothing less than miraculous.

Yes, these are people quite apart, these so-called "folk." The sobriquet, "the don't do them justice," is really. The society life is different from what is usually imagined or pieced together. It is harder, more laborious, less entertaining than one would expect; more brilliant, more sumptuous and costly beyond belief.

Some matters are less impressive. One is the attitude of society toward food. I make this observation on the basis of a set of questions prepared for me, purporting to show the accepted beliefs of "the man in the street."

They Must Keep Their Figures. It is not true that society folk are epicures and devote a great deal of time to food?

Certainly not. It is true they are inured to rich food, but they eat little of it. They only dine once or twice a week. An average home dinner of five courses takes an American family but 25 or 30 minutes to consume. They eat like birds—to keep their figures. Slimness is the chief fashion of the fashionable today. Instead of elaborate midnight supper parties one finds highest society eating daintily of scrambled eggs and sausages. There is no striving for bewilderment variety. Perhaps there is not a night during the season of a debutante that she does not have a taste of chicken salad.

Tomorrow: The Dowager and the Dreadnought.

Great Britain and South America, by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

When you are told that many a debutante has broken down during her season, that many a society matron has been forced to retire forever from the ultra-fashionable stage because her strength was not equal to the demands, you will have a little idea of the rigors of amusements in the New York society machine.

You must give all of yourself, or nothing. What society is doing transcends all other interests. The society man and woman reads and discusses the news of highest society with as much regularity as a broker

Miss Susie Wailes Praises Work of Vocational Plan

"I consider a secretaryship one of the best mediums through which a woman may reach success," says Miss Susie Wailes, president of the women's division of the chamber of commerce. Miss Wailes praised the vocational plan now being carried on by the bureau of vocational information to secure data on secretarial work as an occupation for women.

Miss Wailes, particularly glad that this organization has chosen the field of secretarial work for its nationwide investigation, because she believes that the field holds out splendid opportunities for women. This is evidenced, she says, by the success of some of Atlanta's prominent business women whose present achievement can be traced to beginnings in secretarial work.

"I wish to say unreservedly that a secretaryship is one of the best mediums through which a woman may reach her objective," says Miss Wailes. "Of course there are some who are in positions devoting the necessary time to the study of professions, or go into business for themselves, which I advocate first because I believe that a woman is equipped to compete with men either in the professions or in business if given the same training, and therefore they should allow their intellect to be capitalized by someone else."

"In cases, however, where self-support or other responsibilities make it impossible for a woman to leave the secretarial position the best stepping stone to a worthwhile future. Upon each individual, of course, rests the measure of success which she will attain with a given opportunity, but in the last analysis it is through knowledge of what we undertake that eventual success comes, and the secretarial position offers the opportunity to learn a business in the minutest detail."

"A mental survey of my own small group of acquaintances brings to mind several women whose present success can be traced to secretarial work. One of these having been in the office of a manufacturer's agent was able at his death to take over all his lines and today is making a good income in sales work. Another friend who began as a secretary now has practically the entire responsibility of a district office."

"Having entered the arena and taken up the battle of life a few years ago, a little retrospect makes me realize just how fortunate is the girl of the present time. To those of us who stood on the horizon in those past days there seemed to stretch before only a bewildering maze of commercial and professional work with no guide post to point the way. Today through such vocational organizations as the Southern Woman's Educational Alliance, we find the successful, progressive woman eager to guide the "beginner" with her experience."

Miss Wailes urges the business women of Atlanta to cooperate in the investigation now in progress on secretarial work in order that the data secured may be as complete as possible and give the real picture of achievement gained. Miss Wailes believes that collecting such information will not only help the "beginner" but will give business women an opportunity to guide the "beginner" with their experience.

Miss Wailes, who will sing stellas roles in the Chinese operetta, "The Crimson Eyebrows," to be presented at Commercial High school Thursday evening, March 5.

A Chinese operetta "The Crimson Eyebrows" will be presented in the Commercial High school auditorium, Thursday evening, March 5, at 8:15 o'clock.

The pupils of Mrs. Carroll Sumner, of the Atlanta conservatory of music, will present this musical fantasy by H. H. Dodge and John W. Dodge. Among those taking part in the operetta are Aaron Caruso, as "Star Eye," G. E. Rankin as Fanchang, Mrs. Ralph Bailey as Princess Ting Ling, and Miss Virginia Moore as Buddha.

The leading soprano role is "Ting Ling" and the opera starts as a comedy, but ends as a tragedy. The story is one of an usurper "Wang Mang" who the Chinese throne, who plots the death of "Ting Ling," the rightful ruler, but "Fanchang," the leader of an army known as "The Crimson Eyebrows" overthrows the usurper and restores the throne to "Ting Ling." The opera is being sponsored by and for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary of which Mrs. W. Norman Pool is president. Mrs. W. H. Dodge, Hemlock 3167 and Mrs. Margaret, Geneva 3164-W, are chairmen of tickets, which will on sale at Y. M. C. A., Cable Piano company and Tom Riffe. All auxiliary members are urged to help make the opera a success. Tickets are to be sold at the popular price of 25 cents.

Shops Brought to the Home. Then there are the many tailors. A vast amount of shopping is done in the homes. Jewels are displayed to Madame—and her strings of pearls resting in her boudoir perhaps. The tailor may bring samples of goods. Or a dealer has a bit of statuary or a very rare antique rug to exhibit. The children, whether they are under the care of a governess, or are away at school, or are grown and married, present problems to their social mistress. And who must the household sheltering a debutante, for therein is no peace.

During a season the society woman is a patient of several great social affairs, and they mean surprising hard work that cannot be delegated to hirelings.

With the day in a society home so often ending at 4 o'clock in the morning, it is nothing short of marvelous that so many men respect the usual hours of business—although the women's content with it, incomes and nonincomes, have no such rigorous seasons as the man of affairs in society. How these busy men retire at 4 a. m., breakfast at 8 a. m., looking fresh, devote themselves during the day to large affairs and the night to society, even snatching in one or two hours of dictation after dinner, or after theater, is nothing less than miraculous.

Yes, these are people quite apart, these so-called "folk." The sobriquet, "the don't do them justice," is really. The society life is different from what is usually imagined or pieced together. It is harder, more laborious, less entertaining than one would expect; more brilliant, more sumptuous and costly beyond belief.

Some matters are less impressive. One is the attitude of society toward food. I make this observation on the basis of a set of questions prepared for me, purporting to show the accepted beliefs of "the man in the street."

They Must Keep Their Figures. It is not true that society folk are epicures and devote a great deal of time to food?

Certainly not. It is true they are inured to rich food, but they eat little of it. They only dine once or twice a week. An average home dinner of five courses takes an American family but 25 or 30 minutes to consume. They eat like birds—to keep their figures. Slimness is the chief fashion of the fashionable today. Instead of elaborate midnight supper parties one finds highest society eating daintily of scrambled eggs and sausages. There is no striving for bewilderment variety. Perhaps there is not a night during the season of a debutante that she does not have a taste of chicken salad.

Tomorrow: The Dowager and the Dreadnought.

Great Britain and South America, by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

When you are told that many a debutante has broken down during her season, that many a society matron has been forced to retire forever from the ultra-fashionable stage because her strength was not equal to the demands, you will have a little idea of the rigors of amusements in the New York society machine.

You must give all of yourself, or nothing. What society is doing transcends all other interests. The society man and woman reads and discusses the news of highest society with as much regularity as a broker

Miss Boardman Will Speak To Atlantans This Afternoon

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, national secretary of the American Red Cross, who will speak at the Biltmore this afternoon at 3 o'clock, will be pleasantly entertained during her stay in Atlanta. This morning Mrs. W. G. Roper will take Miss Boardman to Stone Mountain, where she will see for the first time the work done on the magnificent Confederate memorial. This evening the prominent speaker will be honored by the Presidents' club at a dinner at the Biltmore hotel. Mrs. Albert Thornton and Mrs. Preston Arkwright will be among those who will entertain in her honor on Tuesday.

Miss Boardman, who has the distinction of being the only woman member of the executive board of the National Red Cross, will be in Atlanta under the sponsorship of the Atlanta chapter, Red Cross. She will talk to the women of Atlanta this afternoon on the subject, "Volunteer Service in Time of Peace." This will be very much in line with the work of the local chapter and so will prove especially interesting to all Red Cross workers in the city. The persons of her audience, however, will not be limited to women who are actually engaged in Red Cross work. All women who are interested in volunteer service are cordially invited and urged to hear this very helpful talk on the subject.

She arrives in Atlanta this morning from Washington, D. C., to visit Mrs. Preston S. Arkwright at "Pinebloom," her home in Druid Hills, whom Miss Boardman has visited on other occasions.

She is chairman of the national volunteer service committee of the American Red Cross, which was created about a year ago by the central committee of the national organization. Only 15 prominent women from different sections of the country were chosen to serve on this volunteer service committee, and Mrs. Preston S. Arkwright was appointed from the southern district by John Barton Payne, president of the central committee of the American Red Cross.

Today's Cross-Word Puzzle

Photo by Mathewson & Price

Mrs. Ralph Bailey, as Princess Ting Ling, and G. E. Rankin, as Fanchang, who will sing stellas roles in the Chinese operetta, "The Crimson Eyebrows," to be presented at Commercial High school Thursday evening, March 5.

A Chinese operetta "The Crimson Eyebrows" will be presented in the Commercial High school auditorium, Thursday evening, March 5, at 8:15 o'clock.

The pupils of Mrs. Carroll Sumner, of the Atlanta conservatory of music, will present this musical fantasy by H. H. Dodge and John W. Dodge. Among those taking part in the operetta are Aaron Caruso, as "Star Eye," G. E. Rankin as Fanchang, Mrs. Ralph Bailey as Princess Ting Ling, and Miss Virginia Moore as Buddha.

The leading soprano role is "Ting Ling" and the opera starts as a comedy, but ends as a tragedy. The story is one of an usurper "Wang Mang" who the Chinese throne, who plots the death of "Ting Ling," the rightful ruler, but "Fanchang," the leader of an army known as "The Crimson Eyebrows" overthrows the usurper and restores the throne to "Ting Ling." The opera is being sponsored by and for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary of which Mrs. W. Norman Pool is president. Mrs. W. H. Dodge, Hemlock 3167 and Mrs. Margaret, Geneva 3164-W, are chairmen of tickets, which will on sale at Y. M. C. A., Cable Piano company and Tom Riffe. All auxiliary members are urged to help make the opera a success. Tickets are to be sold at the popular price of 25 cents.

Shops Brought to the Home. Then there are the many tailors. A vast amount of shopping is done in the homes. Jewels are displayed to Madame—and her strings of pearls resting in her boudoir perhaps. The tailor may bring samples of goods. Or a dealer has a bit of statuary or a very rare antique rug to exhibit. The children, whether they are under the care of a governess, or are away at school, or are grown and married, present problems to their social mistress. And who must the household sheltering a debutante, for therein is no peace.

During a season the society woman is a patient of several great social affairs, and they mean surprising hard work that cannot be delegated to hirelings.

With the day in a society home so often ending at 4 o'clock in the morning, it is nothing short of marvelous that so many men respect the usual hours of business—although the women's content with it, incomes and nonincomes, have no such rigorous seasons as the man of affairs in society. How these busy men retire at 4 a. m., breakfast at 8 a. m., looking fresh, devote themselves during the day to large affairs and the night to society, even snatching in one or two hours of dictation after dinner, or after theater, is nothing less than miraculous.

Yes, these are people quite apart, these so-called "folk." The sobriquet, "the don't do them justice," is really. The society life is different from what is usually imagined or pieced together. It is harder, more laborious, less entertaining than one would expect; more brilliant, more sumptuous and costly beyond belief.

Some matters are less impressive. One is the attitude of society toward food. I make this observation on the basis of a set of questions prepared for me, purporting to show the accepted beliefs of "the man in the street."

They Must Keep Their Figures. It is not true that society folk are epicures and devote a great deal of time to food?

Certainly not. It is true they are inured to rich food, but they eat little of it. They only dine once or twice a week. An average home dinner of five courses takes an American family but 25 or 30 minutes to consume. They eat like birds—to keep their figures. Slimness is the chief fashion of the fashionable today. Instead of elaborate midnight supper parties one finds highest society eating daintily of scrambled eggs and sausages. There is no striving for bewilderment variety. Perhaps there is not a night during the season of a debutante that she does not have a taste of chicken salad.

Tomorrow: The Dowager and the Dreadnought.

Great Britain and South America, by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

When you are told that many a debutante has broken down during her season, that many a society matron has been forced to retire forever from the ultra-fashionable stage because her strength was not equal to the demands, you will have a little idea of the rigors of amusements in the New York society machine.

You must give all of yourself, or nothing. What society is doing transcends all other interests. The society man and woman reads and discusses the news of highest society with as much regularity as a broker

After the talk at the Biltmore the audience will have the opportunity of meeting Miss Boardman informally. Assisting her in receiving will be the women members of the executive board of the Atlanta chapter, including Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Sr., Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, Mrs. W. E. Mansfield, Mrs. J. E. Sommerfield, Mrs. Louise J. Elson, Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Jr., Mrs. Spencer R. Atkinson, Mrs. Arthur Harris, Mrs. Willard C. Patterson, Mrs. James L. Dickey, Jr., and Miss Cleveland Zahner.

She arrives in Atlanta this morning from Washington, D. C., to visit Mrs. Preston S. Arkwright at "Pinebloom," her home in Druid Hills, whom Miss Boardman has visited on other occasions.

She is chairman of the national volunteer service committee of the American Red Cross, which was created about a year ago by the central committee of the national organization. Only 15 prominent women from different sections of the country were chosen to serve on this volunteer service committee, and Mrs. Preston S. Arkwright was appointed from the southern district by John Barton Payne, president of the central committee of the American Red Cross.

Today's Cross-Word Puzzle

Photo by Mathewson & Price

Mrs. Ralph Bailey, as Princess Ting Ling, and G. E. Rankin, as Fanchang, who will sing stellas roles in the Chinese operetta, "The Crimson Eyebrows," to be presented at Commercial High school Thursday evening, March 5.

A Chinese operetta "The Crimson Eyebrows" will be presented in the Commercial High school auditorium, Thursday evening, March 5, at 8:15 o'clock.

The pupils of Mrs. Carroll Sumner, of the Atlanta conservatory of music, will present this musical fantasy by H. H. Dodge and John W. Dodge. Among those taking part in the operetta are Aaron Caruso, as "Star Eye," G. E. Rankin as Fanchang, Mrs. Ralph Bailey as Princess Ting Ling, and Miss Virginia Moore as Buddha.

The leading soprano role is "Ting Ling" and the opera starts as a comedy, but ends as a tragedy. The story is one of an usurper "Wang Mang" who the Chinese throne, who plots the death of "Ting Ling," the rightful ruler, but "Fanchang," the leader of an army known as "The Crimson Eyebrows" overthrows the usurper and restores the throne to "Ting Ling." The opera is being sponsored by and for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary of which Mrs. W. Norman Pool is president. Mrs. W. H. Dodge, Hemlock 3167 and Mrs. Margaret, Geneva 3164-W, are chairmen of tickets, which will on sale at Y. M. C. A., Cable Piano company and Tom Riffe. All auxiliary members are urged to help make the opera a success. Tickets are to be sold at the popular price of 25 cents.

Shops Brought to the Home. Then there are the many tailors. A vast amount of shopping is done in the homes. Jewels are displayed to Madame—and her strings of pearls resting in her boudoir perhaps. The tailor may bring samples of goods. Or a dealer has a bit of statuary or a very rare antique rug to exhibit. The children, whether they are under the care of a governess, or are away at school, or are grown and married, present problems to their social mistress. And who must the household sheltering a debutante, for therein is no peace.

During a season the society woman is a patient of several great social

Burned Evidence

By MRS. WILSON WOODROW

SYNOPSIS.
The story is being told by young Lindridge, junior member of a New York firm of lawyers, old Jerome Fosdick, one of the richest clients of the firm, invited Lindridge to lunch at his home. The young lawyer is interested in the old man's granddaughter, Sara, a beautiful young society woman, who is Fosdick's sole heir. Fosdick tells Lindridge that Sara's father, his only son, had spent many years in South America, where he died. After his death a South American woman appeared at the Fosdick home with baby Sara, whose mother, the nurse said, had died soon after the baby's father. Fosdick had investigated the woman's story and found it to be true. After luncheon Madam Adelton, a famous psychic, calls on Fosdick and tells him she had been an intimate friend of Sara's mother in Buenos Aires, when Sara was an infant and that when she had to leave the city on a theatrical tour she had left with Sara's mother all her jewels and a large sum of money. When she returned to Buenos Aires, Estrella Fosdick was dead and her property had disappeared. She just succeeded in tracing them and she demands that Fosdick return her jewels and the money with interest. Later the old man tells Lindridge that he had given the case in the hands of Police Inspector Curran. Lindridge tells him about Madam Adelton's demands on Fosdick and informs him that the medium had carried with her a list of jewels which had belonged to Sara's mother and written in the latter's handwriting, identical to a list in Sara's possession. He then tells Lindridge that he is a mysteriously drilled and rifed. Curran and Lindridge hasten over to the Fosdick house and find that the letters are missing. The inspector questions Herbert, curator of the Fosdick museum, and the old man's secretary, Miss O'Quinn. Both have good alibis. Herbert claims he spent the hours between 6 and 11 at the house of Professor Markham, but admits he allowed a Professor Quigley, known to him slightly, to remain in the museum alone during the afternoon. Achison, a famous criminal lawyer of New York, is Adelton's attorney. He invites Lindridge to dinner at his apartment, and there informs the younger lawyer that his client is about to sue Sara Fosdick for the money and jewels she claims she left with Sara's mother. He advises Lindridge to have Sara settle the affair out of court. On his way home from Achison's apartment, Lindridge meets an old friend, Graham Smith, who is a reporter and had covered the Fosdick death for his paper.

INSTALLMENT XXV. ENTER LORD HARRY.

Whatever Graham Smith wished to see me about was not dragged into the open at once. He had just unearthed some new evidence in the most recent nine days' wonder, and he was pulsing with pride and bursting with loquacity as he went into the details with me over his steak and coffee.

I had listened patiently, with a growing hope that this was his sole reason for desiring my society; and now as he drained the last drop from his coffee cup, I began to edge from my chair. But just then he turned his owlish eyes on me, and asked a question that seated me firm as a rock.

"You're winding up the Fosdick estate, aren't you?"

"Pro tem," I said as carelessly as I could. "Plummer is one of the executors, why?"

"Why?" he repeated, with an expressive sniff. "Well, you or somebody else in authority ought to put a bridle on that girl, Sara, and drag her upstanding. Where do you think I saw her the other night, and her grandfather hardly cold in his grave?" He made jabs at me with his fork. "At a cheap, downtown restaurant, O, respectable enough. But I tell you, I could hardly believe my eyes. There she was with—" He paused to give the full dramatic effect to his announcement. "O, boy! With no one else but Lord Harry!"

A futile effort.

"Lord Harry who?" I asked stupidly.

"For the love of Pete!" he said impatiently. "Where do you live, anyway? Lord Harry, my son, occupies about the same position in the underworld that Sara Fosdick does in the upper. Lord Harry has an international reputation. He walks in darkness, even his special line is not known; and he intrigues the police more than any of his kind. And that girl to let herself be seen with him. Well, trim her until he makes old Jerome's pile of securities look like a crumpled cigar coupon."

"Blah!" I sneered. "You'd been having some of that Greenwich village hooch and saw things. You newspaper birds always amaze me. You're so utterly cynical, and yet at the same time so credulous. You believe everything and nothing."

"Huh? I believe this, because I know. The good old lamps don't deceive me. They're trained not to."

"What night was it you thought you saw them?"

"Why—let me see? Sure, it was night before last, I know, because—"

I didn't hear the rest. Thunder was crashing in my ears. Night before last was the date of the robbery.

"Well, I'm not your guardian," I managed to say it naturally, although my tongue felt thick and my mouth was dry. "But look here, Graham: I want you to promise me something. Don't mention what you've just told me to any one else, will you, unless you speak to me first?"

"O, sure," he said, as he picked up the check and paid his bill. "Sure, if you feel that way about it."

Bed held no rest for me that night, and so I did not seek it, but threw myself instead into a chair in my small, book-lined sitting room and tried to think things out. A futile effort. I felt as if I were tossing on a tempest driven sea of doubt, pelted with the hail of question marks.

Achison and Adelton? Miss Mouse and Herbert? Jerome Fosdick's strange end, and the stolen letters and jewels! And now Sara and Lord Harry sitting together over a table in a downtown restaurant at midnight—the evening of the robbery? It was beyond belief, and yet I knew that Graham Smith was neither inventive nor imaginative; he merely reported what his eyes saw.

One thing gradually became clear to me. Sara had not met that man at that place unless with some definite purpose in view. Her one impelling desire was to discover the person or persons who were responsible for her grandfather's death, and she had certainly not been actuated by an idle whim for a more picturesque adventure than those within her reach.

I remembered the day she had seen me in that artificial black and gold drawing room; her abstraction, her scorn of the slowness of Curran's methods. I had feared at the time that her mind was on some plan that she was concocting without benefit of either the inspector or myself, and now I was sure of it. I recalled her impatient over the delay in getting those letters into our hands. Had she been reckless enough to call in a professional safe breaker to aid her in securing them?

A plausible theory; the only flaw in it being that it didn't fit the facts, for Sara did not have the letters, and after my recent interview with Achison, there was every reason to believe that they were in his possession. And buttressing this belief was Curran's statement that the man masquerading as Herbert could not have opened the safe and given it that painstaking and methodical search, of which there was every evidence, in the time he was in the house, and he also declared positively that there was no shadow of doubt that it was the work of the missionary.

I sat up shivering, and began to walk about the room to restore my circulation. The radiators were cold and there was the rattle of the milk wagons in the street below. The dim, gray light at the windows told me that even now a more or less rosy morn was standing tip-toe on the Woolworth building.

Then, like Artemus Ward's prisoner, who after languishing for thirty years in a dungeon conceived one day a bright idea and climbed to freedom through the window, I suddenly perceived that the one way out of my perplexities was to go to Sara, tell her what I had heard, and ask her for an explanation. I turned in, slept a few hours, and after a late breakfast started for the Fosdick house.

On the way, though, I stopped in at Curran's office to make some inquiries about Lord Harry.

"Great Scott!" he cried. "Don't tell me he's in this Fosdick case. That will be the last straw."

"I'm not telling you anything of the kind." I did not intend to take Curran into my confidence until I knew something more definite than I did at present.

"Then why are you so interested in him?" Never were blue eyes more acute than the inspector's at this moment.

"My dear Curran," I said patiently, "our firm has a few other matters to look after beside the Fosdick case."

"If any of your clients is involved with Lord Harry in any way, you'd better advise him to park all his worldly goods, including the gold fillings in his teeth, in the nearest safety deposit vault. When Lord Harry goes to a hen roost, he doesn't leave even a nest egg."

"What type is he? Rough customer? Gunman?"

"He's a gentleman, my boy, fitted to shine in any circle, even the most exclusive. And what he can get away with! He's never been nipped, either, except once in England, when a pal squealed on him. Even then he got off with three years, which is light for burglary over there."

"Burglary?" I pretended surprise. "I gathered from what you have just been saying that he must be a superconfidence man or a card specialist on one of the big liners, something of that sort."

"Lord Harry," Curran replied, "is an expert in many lines. He has no specialty; he plays right through the orchestra from first violin to kettledrum, and can double in brass if necessary."

"An old-timer," I asked.

"In experience, yes. In years, he can't be much over 30, and he looks younger. Tell your client from me to settle with him as quickly as possible, and end all dealings. He is a dangerous person."

(Copyright, 1925, by The Constitution.)

(Continued tomorrow.)

THE GUMPS—NOBODY'S CLAIM

LOOK WHAT'S HERE—THE LAST TIME I SAW HIM HE WAS TRYING TO SELL ME A $25 TIE FOR $3.50. IF $100.00 WOULD BUY THE SOLAR SYSTEM HE COULDN'T PAY FOR THE SHADOW OF A COMET—NO MATTER WHERE THE ARMY OF RICHES TRAVELS THERE ARE SURE TO BE CAMP FOLLOWERS—YOU CAN'T HAVE ANY MONEY WITHOUT FLIES.

WELL, THERE'S A PRIZE FOR SOME LUCKY GIRL WHO CAN AFFORD TO SUPPORT A HUSBAND—HELL BE ABOUT AS USEFUL AROUND THE HOUSE AS AN IMAGINARY FENCE—HIS IDEA OF A HARD DAY'S WORK IS TO GET UP AND EAT BREAKFAST—THE ONLY PEOPLE HE DOESN'T OWE MONEY TO ARE THE ONES WHO WOULDN'T TRUST HIM—IF HE WAS A WISE GUY I COULD UNDERSTAND IT—BUT HIS HEAD IS AS EMPTY AS HIS POCKETS—WELL, IT JUST SHOWS WHAT A TAILOR CAN DO.

I HEARD HIM TELLING EVERYBODY ABOUT HIS CARS AND HIS BANNERS SO HE WON'T LAST LONG—A FOUR-FLUSHER WILL TALK HIMSELF OUT OF ANY PLACE HE CAN TALK HIMSELF INTO—IF A PEACOCK HAD BRAINS ENOUGH TO KEEP ITS MOUTH SHUT NO ONE WOULD KNOW THAT IT DIDN'T HAVE A SWEETER VOICE THAN A NIGHTINGALE—BUT WHAT WOULD A FOOL SAY AND WHAT WOULD MEN EAT IN A FAMINE—

The Fun Shop

By Maxson Foxhall Judell

By Myron W. Johnson.

The leather shop is my delight; I find diversion there. I'd like to go there every night. For waiting hours are now so bright. Since women bob their hair:

It's bit of fun to sit and wait. Beside two chatting girls. Who enter into loud debate. Upon the choosing of a mate. As each her choice unfurls.

And when they sit within the chair. The mirror holds their gaze. With mirror-admiring eyes they stare. At works of art reflected there. And smile with inward praise.

The once drab hairer shop is now

A place of untold mirth. Since women patrons made their bow. With painted cheek and penciled brow— A FUN SHOP filled with mirth!

WALLY THE MYSTIC. He'll Answer Your Questions. The Mystic Wally, with a look. Can read your soul just like a book. Instead of coming to him, write. He sees you through his second sight.

How Men Do Fall For It. Dear Wally: I am sick and tired. Of being look at and admired. For no boy calls to kiss and cuddle. Advise me wisely.

IN A MUDDLE. Dear Muddle:

Go to some new place. Where men are not used to your race. Say you have been upon the stage. And soon you will be all the rage.

Meaning Of A Name.

Dear Wally: Will you kindly tell. The meaning of that name "Judell"? I'm cursed with an inquiring mind. And turn to you for aid.

A GRIND.

Dear Grind: In me you'll ever find. True help for your inquiring mind. That name "Judell" means simply "money". To all those folks who can be funny.

As Ye Sow. Susan, trying of "looking after" her new young brother, Jerry, asked Douglas, an older brother, to relieve her of her job. Douglas refused flatly, saying: "You take care of him yourself. You prayed for him—I didn't."

—Mrs. William W. Hawkins.

LOVE LETTERS OF FAMOUS MEN.

Dearest Isobor: I am glad to hear that you liked the new dress I sent you. I thought the skirt and cross bones design was rather chic, and knew it would appeal to you. I have had a busy day, dear, but I am never too tired to write to my sweetheart. You won't mind this red ink I'm using, will you? Blood was all I had today.

I am rather tired, as I have just finished helping one of my friends walk the plank. This morning, while I was cleaning my cutglass I cut my finger. Wished you were here with me to kiss it and make it well. Sweetie, if you will marry me I'll promise to cut out the pirate business and settle down and make an honest living—robbing banks or something respectable. Just say the word and I'll haul down the Jolly Rodger.

With love and kisses, —Captain Kidd

Dear To Order: "She says her face is her fortune." "Yes—one of those fortunes that are made overnight."

—Irving Kips

Youth must be served—and often-times carried out.

CROSS WORD LIMERICKS

How Romantic

There once was a handsome young

Who wooed the signs "Go" and

A girl driving —(3)

Caught his vigilant —(4)

He stopped her—and now let's

—(5)

1. The kind of man the cook loves.

2. Favorite expression with girls.

3. Beside. 4. Something that gets full occasionally. 5. What every man should become.

—Julian Fifer

Readers are invited to contribute. All humor—epigrams (or humorous notices), jokes, anecdotes, poetry, burlesque, satires and bright sayings of children—must be original and heretofore unpublished. Accepted material will be paid for at the rate

THE EDITOR'S GOSSIP SHOP. We are indeed happy to note the exceptional reception accorded CROSS WORD LIMERICKS. Contribution, however, to the Balldale, Wally the Mystic, Tongue-Twister poems, Jingle, Jangle, Kid Boots, Tricky Triplet, and other series continue unabated.

During the course of the week we shall introduce WILD LIMERICKS as another series to which you can contribute. Watch for the announcement!

JUST NUTS

DON'T YOU THINK IT BETTER TO OWN YOUR HOUSE THAN TO PAY RENT?

NO-IF YOU OWN THE HOUSE YOU HAVE TO BE SO CAREFUL

—(1)

—(2)

—(3)

—(4)

—(5)

—(6)

—(7)

—(8)

—(9)

—(10)

—(11)

—(12)

—(13)

—(14)

—(15)

—(16)

—(17)

—(18)

—(19)

—(20)

—(21)

—(22)

—(23)

—(24)

—(25)

—(26)

—(27)

—(28)

—(29)

—(30)

—(31)

—(32)

—(33)

—(34)

—(35)

—(36)

—(37)

—(38)

—(39)

—(40)

—(41)

—(42)

—(43)

—(44)

—(45)

—(46)

—(47)

—(48)

—(49)

—(50)

—(51)

—(52)

—(53)

—(54)

—(55)

—(56)

—(57)

—(58)

—(59)

—(60)

—(61)

—(62)

—(63)

—(64)

—(65)

—(66)

—(67)

—(68)

—(69)

—(70)

—(71)

—(72)

—(73)

—(74)

—(75)

—(76)

—(77)

—(78)

—(79)

—(80)

MOON MULLINS—A CLEAN ENVIRONMENT

SOMEBODY'S STENOGR—Home, Sweet Home

WINNIE WINKLE THE BREADWINNER

GASOLINE ALLEY—WALT WILL NOT BE AN EAVESDROPPER

By Hayward

WINNIE WINKLE THE BREADWINNER

GASOLINE ALLEY—WALT WILL NOT BE AN EAVESDROPPER

TAR HEELS MEET GEORGIA IN SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT

Commission May Revise Boxing Regulations

'Double Foul' Committed During Flowers-Delaney Bout Will Be Averted

New York, March 1.—As a result of the so-called "double foul" Thursday night, when Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., had to knock out Tiger Flowers, of Atlanta, twice in the same bout before he could claim a victory, the New York boxing commission will undertake a revision of the rules in order that a repetition of the situation shall not occur.

The ringers surged forward wrathfully and a near riot was precipitated in the fourth round of the Flowers-Delaney match when Referee Haley indicated his intention of disqualifying Delaney for hitting Flowers while the latter was down. While a referee of color was handling the crowd, Haley, under pressure from a deputy boxing commissioner decided that Flowers himself had committed a foul by tumbling to the ground without being hit. The fight finally was continued with the excuse that both fighters had committed fouls, thus making it a fifty-fifty distribution of the blame.

A subsequent slight thrown on the affair, however, is that there is a rule providing that "should a contestant who is down arise before the count of ten is reached and again go down intentionally without being hit, the referee and timekeeper shall resume the count where it left off."

Contradictory Rules. The rules also declare that a boxer may be disqualified for purposely going down without being hit. An obvious contradiction exists between these provisions which require revision. Because of the many fights which have resulted in charges of unfairness, the officials feel that referees should be given definite rulings to guide them.

When the boxing commission convenes Tuesday, it is expected that Gene Tunney will be definitely added to the ranks of the heavyweights. Most New Yorkers long have favored Tunney as the choice for the lightweight title, and the commission, through various means has tried to gain for him a shot at the division title held by Billy Gibson.

Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, has announced he will post a $75,000 guarantee before the commission in the hope a challenge to the lightweight title can be arranged. If Tunney should emerge victorious from the Gibson bout he plans, despite his 175 pounds, to challenge Dempsey.

SCHAEFER'S CUE WORK FEATURES

Chicago, March 1.—The phenomenon of Jake Schaefer, the number one world champion, has been the outstanding feature of a week's play in the international championship billiard line which began last night and will be concluded next Tuesday. Schaefer, with three games won and none lost, leads the list of six entries and has the highest average, grand average and run this far.

Schaefer in 1921 defeated Willie Hoppe for the 182 ball billiard crown. He has won one match of 100 points for and another in two innings, and two other matches have been won in four and five innings, respectively. The longest match so far has run through 27 innings and the lowest individual grand average is better than 16 points.

FIVE WATER MARKS BROKEN

Miami, Fla., March 1.—Five world records were broken and one was equaled at the Roman pools today in the grand finale of the Miami National Olympic swimming meet. The fastest swimmer in America for a seven-day engagement that saw the total of world records broken was 21. The two most notable Olympic swimmers lowered last winter in the same pool. In the 400-meter relay, a new record of 4:52 was established.

The old Olympic record made in Paris last year was 4:58 4/5 and the national record was five minutes flat. Gertrude Ederle, who swam the first 100 meters in this event, equaled the record of 1:10 1/2 made by Ethel Lackie at Tampa last week. The other members of the team were Alice O'Brien, Alvin Riggan and Adelaide Lamier.

BROWNS MAY ADD GIANTS TO LIST

St. Louis, March 1.—It is probable that the Browns will add the New York Giants, National league champions, to their list of opponents in spring exhibition games. Business Manager Bill Friel, of the local club, has announced here.

Friel said he has received a wire from Giants officials asking for a game with the Browns, to be played at Saratoga, Fla., the Giants' camp, on March 24, adding that he had heard from Manager George Sibley, in training with the squad at Tarpon Springs, Fla.

ES CURED WITHOUT SURGERY

No knife, burning, discomfort or detention from business. Read this noted Specialist's book on Rectal diseases—Dr. Hughes' celebrated original bloodless treatment for Hemorrhoids, protruding, bleeding and itching—ulcerations and inflammations. Produces positive and permanent results. Do not be deceived by imitators. Write for this book today, free to Pile Sufferers, or call personally. No charge for consultation.

DR. T. W. HUGHES
Rectal Specialist
181 N. Broad St., Atlanta, Ga.

GREB SCORES TECHNICAL KAYOES

Pittsburg, March 1.—Harry Greb, world's middleweight boxing champion, scored several knockouts during an impromptu fight staged last night at a lonely hotel in Highland Park when the champion and two women companions in an automobile were held up by five men who escaped after a struggle. Greb, who had taken a ring and $95 from one of the women. Police who investigated after Greb had reported the robbery found the road spattered with blood as a result of the punishment inflicted upon the highwayman.

BOB WALTHOUR RACES AGAIN

New York, March 1.—Sixteen teams of two men each representing four continents, were lined up at midnight for the 38th international sprint bicycle race, the last to be held in Madison Square Garden.

Pate Moeskops, of Holland, world champion in the sprints, is the favorite rider and is reported to have been guaranteed $10,000 for participating. Alf Goulet, greatest of the modern long-distance riders, will watch this year's grand.

The teams are as follows: Moeskops, Holland, and DeGruy, Belgium; Walthour and Spencer, United States; Goettsch and Boland, Italy; McNamara and Moran, United States; Grenda and McBeath, Australia; Beckman and Benetazzo, United States; Nefatti, Tunis and DeWolfe, Belgium; Stockholm and Stockholm, Sweden; Chapman and Lawrence, United States; DeRoyer and Buysse, Belgium; Ferris and Rizzotto, Italy; and Lands and Thomas, United States.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 1.—Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington Americans, today led the world champions on a tour of the city for the training camp at Tampa, Fla. While the Senators were being given a send off by local fans, the Cleveland Americans were being given a send off by local fans.

Accompanying Manager Harris were pitchers Walter Johnson, Ruth, Coveleski, Marberry and Ozden; Catcher Ruel; infielders DePauw, Judge, McNally and Outfielder Goslin. The Senators' first opponents in an exhibition game will be the New York Giants, whom they will play at Palm Beach, March 10.

FINAL RITES TODAY FOR GEORGE HUBER

Funeral services for George F. Huber, 110 Cresthill avenue, who died Saturday in a local hospital, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of his wife, Mrs. Huber, 110 Cresthill avenue. Rev. Father Howe officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mr. Huber had made Atlanta his home for the past 25 years, coming to this city from New York, where he was born, August 15, 1878. He was a member of the local chapter of the Elks lodge, and was a member of the local chapter of the Elks lodge, and was a member of the local chapter of the Elks lodge.

PROBE OF SHIPPING BOARD NEAR CLOSE

Washington, March 1.—The house committee appointed to inquire into the activities of the shipping board and its subsidiary organizations has concluded its investigation as far as the taking of testimony is concerned. The committee still has before it the task of drafting a report but this is not to be presented until the next congress meets, and Chairman White announced today it would not be called for another meeting before March 4, except perhaps to decide when it would start work on the report.

The investigation, which was proposed by Representative Davis, democrat, Tennessee, was in progress more than a year ago, the committee delving into all branches of the board's activities, and holding sessions at various places in the United States and Europe.

160 ARE KILLED WHEN MUNITIONS DEPOT EXPLODES

Constantinople, March 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—One hundred and 60 of the townspeople were killed today in the explosion of a munitions depot at Kharput, Turkish Armenia, while the town was being pillaged by rebels.

The Angora assembly has voted a credit for partial mobilization to combat the Kurdish revolt.

QUINTS PRIME FOR MAJOR CLASH Mercer Thoughts Turning To Gridiron and Diamond

Macon, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—The crack of ashen bats on horsehide cover at Mercer university awaits only the arrival of March 15. Baseball now is past and this date will mark the demise of spring football and birth of Mercer's 1925 baseball season.

Coach Stanley L. Robinson, who is to direct the Bears' diamond activities this year, says that he will devote all energies to a successful end of spring grid work before taking up baseball. This will allow only a week of practice before Mercer's season opens.

In no year, perhaps, has the Bear nine faced a schedule with such reachable opposition. The most chess-like aspect in this direction, though, is that the most difficult games are to be played in Macon.

Notre Dame, University of Indiana, University of Georgia, Oglethorpe and Kentucky are enrolled for Central City meets with the Baptists. Mercer's first games are on a road trip into Florida, beginning March 23, when the "Gator nine" will be met in a twin bill and Stetson is to be taken on.

Light training by individuals has started already. Such practice as it has been has been devoted mostly to light bat work, snagging of flies and kicking kinks out of arms. Something also has been done in unleashing a part of this year's tossing abilities.

In the pitching staff Mercer appears to be more fortunate this year than formerly. Lewis Hamilton leads the list and will be called upon to bear the brunt of the season. "Lefty" and Newton Stapleton, Jack Ryals, Jimmy Riddle, Lawrence, Lewis Reese, Bobby Pinkston, "Red" Adams and Ed Ellison, all old-timers, are to handle the leathery sphere again for the Baptists.

Wildwood, Fla., March 1.—Sad Sam Jones, for 10 years a major league pitcher, announced Sunday that this would be his last season in baseball. The Yankee moundman was in a mournful mood and confided to his colleagues that as soon as the composed season is over he would forsake the game and go home. He was en route with Babe Ruth and other Yankees to the club's quarters at St. Petersburg.

John was spending the better part of each year of the last 10 years away from his home in Woodfield, Ohio. Sam said, "and now I've decided to remain on my farm with my family the rest of my life."

"I have a farm I wouldn't trade for the best house in New York. I have a radio that gets all sections of the country and some of the best prizes at the county fairs. What more could a fellow ask for?"

John was waiting as the designated trying place and he had now decided, he advanced to meet the officers—the while flourishing a dangerous-looking iron pipe in each hand.

Then, again, possibly not. But when one, he be white or black, is so indiscreet as to assault a "gentleman," Johnson, and "Wild Bill" McKinney, of the call office, especially when they're together, he certainly fits every possible description of a fool.

John Stubbs, of African extraction, living in the rear of S Green street, assaulted Cora Windish, of the rear of 414 Washington street, the same nationality, using a large pewter pitcher.

When the pitcher shattered on Cora's cranial extremity, John continued his chastisement with a broom handle.

Neighbors, hearing the screams, sent a hurry call to police station and Call Officers Johnson and McKinney responded.

In the alley they found Cora—badly frightened, but without serious injury.

"He's down in the next block, but give me to kill any police that tries to arrest him. He says so," Cora informed them.

French Budget Voted At All Night Session

Paris, March 1.—After an all-night sitting, the chamber of deputies completed voting on the budget at 4 o'clock this morning. The bill will go to the senate tomorrow for its consideration.

The final figures, as passed by the chamber, show an estimated deficit of 34,182,000,000 francs. M. Viollette, the budget reporter, informed the house that the receipts as estimated would exceed the expenditures by 40,000,000,000 francs after the contemplated further decrease of expenditures was made.

HANCOCK FARMERS USING TRACTORS TO SPEED CROPS

Sparta, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—A Women's Missionary society has been delayed in beginning their farm work by the continued rains, will resort to tractors and other improved farm machinery in order to retrieve as much of the lost time as possible.

W. L. Garrett, one of the largest planters in the county, working several thousand acres, is not in a big crop of tobacco this year.

He is the first big planter to follow the lead set last year by the owners of the large David Hinson plantation. They used a bumper crop of tobacco, but on account of the fact that they were the only growers in the county, the entire crop was shipped to North Carolina to get a sale for it.

Missionary Society Met At Taylorsville

Taylorsville, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—A Women's Missionary society was organized in the Methodist church the first of this year with one member. The one member bravely promised to keep the society for this year if she had to hold the meetings alone.

The society can now boast of eight members which met with Mrs. J. H. Holly Saturday afternoon. The main feature of the program were some letters read by Miss Nell Irvin, one of the teachers in the school here, from her brother who is a missionary in Shanghai, China. He wrote of his work and gave interesting descriptions of the Chinese people.

HANCOCK COVER CROPS IN FINE CONDITION

Sparta, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—Oats, rye, clover and other winter cover crops in this county are the best raised in recent years. The mild winter has given these crops an opportunity to grow practically all month since planted. Thousands of acres in this crop are growing in this county. The oats and other small grain will supplement the short corn crop of last year.

With very little signs of much more cold weather, local farm experts predict that the crop will harvest bumper yield. This means a saving of many thousand dollars in feedstuffs to Hancock county.

JONES, DIEGEL BEATEN AT FLORIDA

Belleair Heights, Fla., March 1.—George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, British golfing professionals, defeated Bob Jones, national amateur champion, and Leo Diegel, Canadian open champion, two up and one to play, in a 36-hole exhibition match here today.

At only one time were the Americans ahead in the match, witnessed by one of the largest galleries ever to watch a match here. Diegel ran down a putt for a birdie three at the tenth hole in the morning.

Two holes later in the match squared and the Britons raced away to a two-hole lead, which they held until the end of the morning round. They continued to set the pace until Jones sent in a seven-foot putt for a two at the 33rd hole to square the match. Duncan followed in the morning round at the 34th and 35th holes.

The winners had best balls of 66 and 68, the losers of 68 and 69. Duncan was the low score of the day with two 71's. Diegel had 70 and 75, Jones 73 and 73 and Mitchell 73 and 75.

SAD SAM JONES TO FORSAKE DIAMOND FOR FARM FIRESIDE

Wildwood, Fla., March 1.—Sad Sam Jones, for 10 years a major league pitcher, announced Sunday that this would be his last season in baseball. The Yankee moundman was in a mournful mood and confided to his colleagues that as soon as the composed season is over he would forsake the game and go home. He was en route with Babe Ruth and other Yankees to the club's quarters at St. Petersburg.

John was spending the better part of each year of the last 10 years away from his home in Woodfield, Ohio. Sam said, "and now I've decided to remain on my farm with my family the rest of my life."

"I have a farm I wouldn't trade for the best house in New York. I have a radio that gets all sections of the country and some of the best prizes at the county fairs. What more could a fellow ask for?"

John was waiting as the designated trying place and he had now decided, he advanced to meet the officers—the while flourishing a dangerous-looking iron pipe in each hand.

Then, again, possibly not. But when one, he be white or black, is so indiscreet as to assault a "gentleman," Johnson, and "Wild Bill" McKinney, of the call office, especially when they're together, he certainly fits every possible description of a fool.

John Stubbs, of African extraction, living in the rear of S Green street, assaulted Cora Windish, of the rear of 414 Washington street, the same nationality, using a large pewter pitcher.

When the pitcher shattered on Cora's cranial extremity, John continued his chastisement with a broom handle.

Neighbors, hearing the screams, sent a hurry call to police station and Call Officers Johnson and McKinney responded.

In the alley they found Cora—badly frightened, but without serious injury.

"He's down in the next block, but give me to kill any police that tries to arrest him. He says so," Cora informed them.

Georgia Tech Seniors Finish Examinations On U. S. Constitution

Three hundred Georgia Tech seniors have spent the past week completing examinations on the constitution of the state and federal governments. Examination was under direct supervision of President M. L. Brittain, following interpretation by Judge Samuel Shibley, federal district judge of the northern district of Georgia, and Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, of the supreme court of Georgia.

Two years ago the general assembly of Georgia passed a law requiring seniors of Georgia Tech to successfully pass such an examination before graduation.

McCarthy Here To Boost Show In Philadelphia

Maurice J. McCarthy, Ph. D., prominent New York attorney, arrived in Atlanta Sunday night to boost the training exhibit, which will be held in Philadelphia next year. He is registered at the Atlanta Biltmore.

Mr. McCarthy is a well-known orator, having accomplished effective work during the World War in Red Cross, Salvation army and liberty drives. While in Georgia he will attend to legal matters for several clients, and will then go to Florida to close ready deals for clients in New York.

Mr. McCarthy is enthusiastic over plans for the exposition planned for Philadelphia, with Colonel David Collier in charge. He declares it will be one of the big events of the biggest events of the kind in history. Congress has appropriated $25,000 to aid in the celebration.

McCarthy Here To Boost Show In Philadelphia

Maurice J. McCarthy, Ph. D., prominent New York attorney, arrived in Atlanta Sunday night to boost the training exhibit, which will be held in Philadelphia next year. He is registered at the Atlanta Biltmore.

Mr. McCarthy is a well-known orator, having accomplished effective work during the World War in Red Cross, Salvation army and liberty drives. While in Georgia he will attend to legal matters for several clients, and will then go to Florida to close ready deals for clients in New York.

Mr. McCarthy is enthusiastic over plans for the exposition planned for Philadelphia, with Colonel David Collier in charge. He declares it will be one of the big events of the biggest events of the kind in history. Congress has appropriated $25,000 to aid in the celebration.

Tulane Greenies Encounter University of Mississippi; To Play Finals Tuesday

After the thrilling "final-second" victory of Georgia over Kentucky, 32 to 31, in the last of Saturday's games, the Southern Conference basketball tournament, now in session at the University of Mississippi, tonight with the University of Mississippi meeting the Tulane Greenies at 8 o'clock, and the University of Georgia playing the Tarheels of North Carolina at 9 o'clock.

When the tournament opened Thursday there were 19 contenders facing the barrier, all hopeful of going the limit. Now all but four have cracked under the strain and fallen by the wayside, and only the four teams mentioned above Georgia, now to fight out for highest basketball honors in the Southern Conference.

Speculation as to likely winners in the semifinal is life among the fans, most of whom seem to favor the Tulane Greenies over "Ole Miss," and the championship Tarheels over Georgia.

The tournament will be brought to a close Tuesday night when the winners of the semi-finals play for top honors and the losers battle it out for third place in the final standings.

When the S. I. C. basketball tournament of 1926 goes into session here next year the boys who Saturday night saw Georgia nose out Kentucky by one point, by one backward flip by Charlie Welch will still be talking about that game which sends Georgia into the final round in the semi-finals Monday evening.

It didn't take a rally just at the last minute to make the game interesting. Tulane, by beating North Carolina in the quarter-finals, had a struggle that has been fought out on the auditorium court this year and it probably will be looked on as just that even when the finals are played Tuesday.

Georgia Saturday beat Kentucky by a score of 32 to 31, with the winning point coming in the last two seconds of play. The ball had scarcely fallen to the court after swishing through the netting when the umpire's pistol ended it.

On the same night Georgia meets North Carolina in the semi-finals; Tulane, after beating North Carolina, will play Ole Miss. Tulane went to the semi-finals last night just before the Georgia-Kentucky game, beating North Carolina State by a score of 41 to 24, the biggest count of the tournament.

MOULTRIE WINS FINAL GAME

Thomsville, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—In the final game of the girls' basketball tournament of the South-west Georgia association, played here last night between Moultrie and Thomsville, Moultrie won the championship by the score of 33 to 23. The game was very thrilling, the two teams running neck and neck until the last quarter, when Moultrie nosed ahead and kept the lead until the finish.

The championship cup was presented to the winning team by Judge H. J. MacIntyre, of this city. Boxes of candy were presented to the losing team, the referee and the umpire. The game was played before an immense crowd, many coming from other towns.

CHAMBLEE GIRLS BEAT NELSON

Chamblee, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—The Chamblee High girls defeated the Nelson girls Saturday night on the Chamblee court, after the first round of the season, the Nelson girls got an early lead on the Chamblee team and led until the closing seconds of the game, when Frances Daniel scored a beautiful goal from the center of the court, which won the game by one point. Both teams played a great match and it was anybody's game all the way.

NURMI FACES HARDEST TEST

New York, March 1.—Paavo Nurmi, returning from Louisville, where he captured a national A. U. track record, faces the hardest stamina test of his American visit when he starts in the 71st Regiment games here tonight, the first of eight contests, which will take him to Hamilton and Ontario, Buffalo, Milwaukee and Cleveland.

On Wednesday he appears in the 100-yard relay in a Brooklyn track meet in Hamilton on Thursday, Toronto on Friday, Buffalo on Saturday, and Milwaukee the following Monday. March 10 he will take part in the Ohio State championships at Cleveland and two days later he will be back in New York for the Greek-American A. C. competition.

MILTON DRIVES TO VICTORY

Culver City, Cal., March 1.—Tommy Milton won the 250-mile automobile race here this afternoon, the opening event of the 1925 season of the American Automobile association. He averaged 126.39 miles an hour. Peter de Paola was second, Robert McDonough third, and Harry Hartz fourth.

$15.00 Doll for $4.95

When the "Little Miss Georgia" doll Christmas campaign offer of The Atlanta Constitution closed, it was found that there were a few of these magnificent dolls left on hand. Rather than carry them over to another season, Constitution subscribers can obtain on your order the surplus supply at $4.95, which is considerably less than cost.

"Little Miss Georgia" doll walks, talks, sleeps, winks, blinks, rolls her eyes, and does everything else that the premier doll of all times would be expected to do. She is non-breakable, elaborately outfitted, has real hair and is over 24 inches tall.

This doll has recently sold at retail throughout the country at from $12.50 to $15.00.

Atlanta and suburban Constitution subscribers and their friends can obtain the dolls at the city circulation department's second floor, Constitution building. Out-of-town orders filled by mail in first and second zones at same price, but beyond second zone 25c should be added up to fourth zone and beyond that 50c additional.

This will be a splendid gift to some little girl.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Ga.

motive

ies for Sale 1

D. COUPE, equipped with brand-new balloon tires, complete with all modern accessories. Must sell today as owner leaving city. See me at Ansley hotel
Harry Coleman.

D. 1923, one-ton truck. Bargain. See me at 169 Marietta street.

D. TOURING—Five passenger, for sale at a sacrifice. Good condition. $1300 for immediate sale. Need money;
6634.

D. 1922 express body, canopy top

D8-Belle Isle-Street Company, 38
 Ashcroft. IVY 0507. Cash or terms.
 G. M. C. ONE-TON CHASSIS, with pneumatic tires. General Motors Truck
 207 Ivy street.
 KXWELL 1½-ton truck. Needs some repairs. $30.00. General Motors Truck
 207 Ivy street.
 KXWELL with stake body and cab pneumatic tires, $150. General Motors
 Truck Co. 207 Ivy street.
 H. used cars. Martin-Nash Motor

DERAKERS—100 per cent values. Year ough Motor Company. Used Car Depart t, 240 Peachtree. HElock 6910.

ITE two-ton with cab and body, pneu matic tires. General Motors Truck Co
IVY street.

H FOR YOUR USED CAR—
Highest market prices paid.

J. M. Harrison & Co.
South's largest used car dealer.
125-131 Ivy street.
Walnut 3966.

TS—Used Car Clearing House, 84-86 W in street, IVy 6985.
D used cars. Olds Motor Works, 26
Peachtree Street, IVy 0642.
D USED cars. Flint Motor Compan
2 Peachtree Street.
will sell your automobile. Thomp onded Warehouse. 441-443 Peachtree.

Auto Trucks for Sale	1
UCKS—Used truck and car bargain White Co., 134 N Boulevard.
Auto Accessories	1
BATTERIES—Year guarantee, $11.5 Sixie Storage Battery Company, 1 ewood, IVY 2777.
Tires and Parts	16
ND OWNERS save money on new part quality. Front spring, $1.75; re Call 210-480, 210-481 and 210-482.

Business Service

Business Services Offered
WALKS, curbing, cement work of an
Call EA. 1632-J. M. M. Brown.
DOWN CLEANING—National Window and Housecleaning Company, 11 White Balcony, MAIn 1724.
Building and Contracting
PENTER—A. I. Hamilton, general
ing; also roof repairing. HEMLoc
W.

DEPENDENT DRIVEWAY CO.—All kinds of ment work and general repainting. WA 4867.

HU haven't forgotten the classified ad you?

Cleaning, Dyeing, Renovating 2 STAINS of all kinds, cleaned and retched. Write 70 Mayson Turner av

TERS—Satisfaction guaranteed. Ma
bers given prompt attention. Acme Ha
20 East Hunter street, MAINE 2501.

OVATORS—Call Shirley Mattress Co.

for high-grade mattress renovating.
Black 6967.

Dressmaking and Millinery 2

UNTED SEWING—MEN'S SHIRTS AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHES .SPECIALTY
L. W. 1167-J.

Heating, Plumbing, Roofing 2

HEATING, PLUMBING, ROOFING, E.
MIDLAND, CHICAGO, ILL. 60640.

Insurance—Government, USA, Lombard
Bldg., 30 Bedford avenue, IVY 4902.
PAINTING—Painting and repairing, W. S.
FONG, West 1849-J, 22 years' experience.
Call me and save money.
YOUR roof leaks call Acree—not the pest, but the best—West 2712.

Painting, Papering, Decorating 2
 FINISHING, plastering, tinting; rooms, bathrooms; leaks, stops in roof. MAIn 3532-W.
 I.L. papering and painting. Lumpkin
 10, 36 West Peachtree street. Estimates freely given. Phone IVy 1738.
 do painting and wallpapering; repairs everything about your home. Call MA
 1-J.

Professional Services 2

REPAIRING AND REFINISHING—L. C. Matthews, 1707 Chas. & Southern building, Walnut 2275.

RECORDING SENSE, free book for inventors seeking largest deserved profits. Write to J. & Lacey, 717 F street, Washington, D. C., Established 1899.

RECORDS—Write for free guide books and Record of Invention Blank" before disclosing inventions. Send model or sketch of invention for examination and instructions as reasonable. Victor J. Evans Co., 615 N. Washington, D. C.

Repairing and Refinishing 2

PERSON FURNITURE COMPANY—Furniture repaired, upholstered, refinished, net work. 511 Edgewood. IVy 2139.

PHONOGRAPHS REPAIRED—All makes. Al. 3380. 18 N. Pryor. Al. Phono. Co.

REPAIRING correctly done; new improved machinery; prices right. W. L. Hanna, 57 Luckie. IVy 9569. 17 South Park. IVy 8267.

repair all makes phonographs. Wright Furniture Company, MAin 0631. 59 East

Employment

Help Wanted—Female 3

STAIN—Laundered by hand. Specie re taken. IVy 3136.

LINERS WANTED—

Experienced millinery makers and trimmers for piece work in wholesale trimmed hat departments. Apply in person to Mr. Rosser, Ernest

Rhodes Co., 67-69 South Pryor street.

 NOGRAPHER—
 Who understands fire and casualty insurance rates and writing policies, good opportunity for right party. Address 8-323 Constitution.

 URED MAID for small family and Help Wanted—Male 3

PRESS FEEDER—Universal Box
Label Co., 78½ Auburn avenue.

PHYSICAL DENTIST—Plate man. Apply at once, 202 Atlanta National Bldg.

INS. AGENTS—Railroad train service. Excellent News Company, 34 East Hunter St.

ESMEN—

have an immediate opening in this city for two high-grade salesmen to sell nationally known, nationally advertised maker to established merchants on commission.

WE WILL GIVE THIS MAN

Thorough training.
Exclusive territory,
Bona Fide Leads.
Real Cooperation.

This opportunity will appeal to the man who wants a permanent, well paying proposition of unlimited future.

See Mr. Greverus, Henry Grady Hotel day from 9 to 4.

Thrifty People Are Glad To Obey The "Buy-Laws" Of Classified Advertising

Classified Display

Real Estate

LOGAN CLARKE STROTHER C. FLEMING
LOGAN CLARKE INSURANCE AGENCY
 Fire, Automobile, Burglary, Accident, Etc.
 Fourth National Bank Bldg. Phone Walnut 0983
 Personal Attention Prompt Pay—No Delay

ROOFING

Logan-Long Roofing. 85-lb. Slate Roll. Strip Shingles. Get Our Prices.
FULTON LIME & CEMENT CO.
 521 Edgewood Ave. IVy 4751

SPECIAL JELICO BLOCK
COAL
$7.00
 Per Ton
IVy 2336

SPECIAL JELICO EGG
$6.50
 Per Ton

5½ and 6% Money to Lend also at 7% (With No Annual Reduction)

 Appraisals made and money paid by our office. No delay.

Haas & Howell

Haas-Howell Bldg. Phone Walnut 3111
 NOTE: Second Mortgage funds on hand.

FOR SALE

Flat newsprint paper suitable for small publishers and job printers. . . . The price is right. . . .

P. O. BOX 1731 ATLANTA

THIS NOON

Treat yourself to a Routsos lunch. You will find the service prompt and efficient. You will find the food tasty and delicious. You will find the restaurant itself a quiet, pleasant place, offering welcome restfulness after the rush of a busy morning.

Last of all you will find the prices most reasonable.

MIDDAY LUNCH

55c

Vegetable Soup or Cream of Celery
 Choice of Creamed Chicken on Toast
 Barbecue Pork
 Mashed Potatoes
 Young Spinach Sauce
 Combination Salad French Dressing
 Rice Pudding with Vanilla Sauce
 Coffee Tea or Milk

ROUTSOS CAFE
 60 Peachtree - 2 doors North of MUSEUS

"Telephonic" Photography

3,600-MILE TRANSMISSION TESTS SATISFACTORY
Now Is Complete Success

Washington, March 1.—Transmission of photographs over telephone wires 3,600 miles long, simultaneously to three cities, was tested here today by the American Telephone and Telegraph company and was declared by officials to have been a complete success.

It was the first time such transmission of photographs had been attempted to more than one city at once and over so great a distance. Nearly a dozen pictures were sent to New York, Chicago and San Francisco, only 7 minutes being required for each print. Officials of the company here were in touch by telephone with their offices in the three cities and were told that the experiment was without a hitch.

The demonstration was arranged, the officials said, as a final test before announcing establishment of a general transcontinental picture-transmission service, and to perfect arrangements for sending pictures of the presidential inauguration Wednesday.

One of the pictures transmitted today was of President and Mrs. Coolidge, taken as they departed this morning from the First Congregational church.

Within seven minutes after the negative was placed on the transmitting machine the picture was available for publication in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

While the demonstration was in progress, a photograph was taken of the machinery and a group of spectators. The film was developed and ready for transmission within half an hour, and seven minutes later duplicate were in the three cities.

It was the second public demonstration of the apparatus, which was perfected by engineers of the Bell Telephone company and the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

The first test was made last May. It is possible to transmit a picture 7 by 7 inches, which, after ordinary development at the receiving end, is practically undistinguishable from an ordinary photograph, officials said, and is ready for reproduction.

Time is saved in transmitting photographs, they pointed out, because it is possible to use films before they have dried after development.

The film is inserted in the transmitter in cylindrical form, and a beam of light is passed through it at uniform speed, reproducing the picture on a photo-electric cell. The light beam passing through the film moves over its surface much as a phonograph needle circles a record.

Regarding the proposed transcontinental service, officials said the same system could be used in transmitting photographs by radio when atmospheric conditions are such that steadiness of transmission and freedom from interference can be assured.

An attractive musical program preceded the sermon and carols were passed through the audience taking a census of those present for future use of the church.

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Dr. Rader told the story of the Magdalene, who, without knowledge of theology bathed the feet of the Savior with her tears, and after finding that she had laid herself open to criticism from the higher critics and theologians, attempted to wipe the tears away from Christ's face with her hair.

"Jesus said to her, 'Neither do I condemn you, go your way in peace,' sending the woman away to repent of her sins and amend her life. Jesus didn't come to save the upright, but to effect the salvation of sinners."

An attractive musical program preceded the sermon and carols were passed through the audience taking a census of those present for future use of the church.

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Dr. Rader told the story of the Magdalene, who, without knowledge of theology bathed the feet of the Savior with her tears, and after finding that she had laid herself open to criticism from the higher critics and theologians, attempted to wipe the tears away from Christ's face with her hair.

"Jesus said to her, 'Neither do I condemn you, go your way in peace,' sending the woman away to repent of her sins and amend her life. Jesus didn't come to save the upright, but to effect the salvation of sinners."

CHURCH IS CROWDED FOR RADER ADDRESS

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Dr. Rader told the story of the Magdalene, who, without knowledge of theology bathed the feet of the Savior with her tears, and after finding that she had laid herself open to criticism from the higher critics and theologians, attempted to wipe the tears away from Christ's face with her hair.

"Jesus said to her, 'Neither do I condemn you, go your way in peace,' sending the woman away to repent of her sins and amend her life. Jesus didn't come to save the upright, but to effect the salvation of sinners."

An attractive musical program preceded the sermon and carols were passed through the audience taking a census of those present for future use of the church.

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Dr. Rader told the story of the Magdalene, who, without knowledge of theology bathed the feet of the Savior with her tears, and after finding that she had laid herself open to criticism from the higher critics and theologians, attempted to wipe the tears away from Christ's face with her hair.

"Jesus said to her, 'Neither do I condemn you, go your way in peace,' sending the woman away to repent of her sins and amend her life. Jesus didn't come to save the upright, but to effect the salvation of sinners."

An attractive musical program preceded the sermon and carols were passed through the audience taking a census of those present for future use of the church.

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Dr. Rader told the story of the Magdalene, who, without knowledge of theology bathed the feet of the Savior with her tears, and after finding that she had laid herself open to criticism from the higher critics and theologians, attempted to wipe the tears away from Christ's face with her hair.

"Jesus said to her, 'Neither do I condemn you, go your way in peace,' sending the woman away to repent of her sins and amend her life. Jesus didn't come to save the upright, but to effect the salvation of sinners."

An attractive musical program preceded the sermon and carols were passed through the audience taking a census of those present for future use of the church.

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Dr. Rader told the story of the Magdalene, who, without knowledge of theology bathed the feet of the Savior with her tears, and after finding that she had laid herself open to criticism from the higher critics and theologians, attempted to wipe the tears away from Christ's face with her hair.

"Jesus said to her, 'Neither do I condemn you, go your way in peace,' sending the woman away to repent of her sins and amend her life. Jesus didn't come to save the upright, but to effect the salvation of sinners."

An attractive musical program preceded the sermon and carols were passed through the audience taking a census of those present for future use of the church.

Every seat in Central Baptist church was taken Sunday night when Dr. Luke Rader spoke on "The Mysteries of the Bible," and at the close of the sermon more than a score of people responded to an invitation to prayer.

Dr. Rader said that the greatest enemy of the Bible and of Christ is "religion," and declared that God does not ask what is your creed, nor your belief, but "do you believe in Christ as the Savior?"

"No matter what your belief," continued the speaker, "God only asks: 'Are you hungry for salvation?'"

Funeral Notices

ADAIR—Died, yesterday afternoon at a local hospital, Miss Ora Adair in her 33rd year. She is survived by her father, mother, five brothers and six sisters. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Awtry & Lowndes Company.

COFER—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cofer and family are invited to attend the funeral of their infant son this (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock from the grave side in Sylvester cemetery. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

CRARY—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Crary, Mr. G. A. Seale and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crary are invited to attend the funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Crary this (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock from the grave side in East Lake cemetery. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

COLLINS—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Collins, Mr. J. R. Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Anthony are invited to attend the funeral of Daniel K. Collins, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Collins, this (Monday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from the residence, 35 Powell street. Interment, Sylvester. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

CISNEAR—Mrs. Elizabeth Cisnear died Sunday afternoon at the residence, 334 E. Hunter street, in the 82nd year of her age. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mollie Parker, Mrs. Nancy Fuschino, and one son, Tom Cisnear. The remains were removed to the parlors of Harry G. Poole. Funeral and interment will be announced later.

MOON—Mr. James Thomas Moon died Sunday morning at the residence, 62 Kelly street, in the 42nd year of his age. He is survived by his wife, mother, Mrs. Lulu Moon; one brother, Mr. O. L. Moon; three sisters, Mrs. R. S. Channey, Mrs. T. B. Jones and Mrs. Pearl Brown. The remains were removed to the parlors of Harry G. Poole. Funeral and interment will be announced later.

HUBER—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Huber, Miss Edith Kinnear, Mr. Allen F. Kinnear, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Liddell, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Huber and Mr. Henry Huber are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. George F. Huber this (Monday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from Sacred Heart church. Father Howe will officiate. Interment, West View. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the residence, 110 Cresthill avenue, at 2 p. m.: Mr. J. Austin Dillon, Mr. R. S. Freeman, Mr. A. P. Stewart, Mr. Frank Schleif, Mr. Charles Salmon and Mr. D. P. Houlihan. R. P. O. E. No. 78 will have charge of the services at the grave. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

MCCENTYRE—Died, March 1, in the 82nd year of his age, Mr. Harbert Hawkins McCentyre, at the residence, No. 900 Roswell street, Marietta, Ga. Mr. McCentyre is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. A. McCentyre; five daughters, Mrs. Jane Napier, Mrs. G. L. Jackson, Atlanta; Mrs. J. H. Garrett, Ball Ground, Ga.; Miss Helen Smith, Atlanta; Mrs. Nanie McCentyre, Marietta; six sons, Mr. W. C. McCentyre, Long Beach, Cal.; Mr. H. C. McCentyre, Crew, Va.; Mr. H. H. McCentyre, Lexington, Ky.; Mr. J. T. McCentyre, Mr. A. M. McCentyre, Marietta. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by John S. Dobbins & Sons, funeral directors, Marietta, Georgia.

MORRIS—Died, at the residence, No. 241 Winter avenue, Decatur, Ga., Sunday, March 1, 1925, in the second year of her age, Miss Belle Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Morris. Besides her parents she is survived by a brother, Charles Morris, and grandparents, Mrs. Belle Morris and Mr. and Mrs. S. Walker Morris. The remains were taken to Carrollton, Ga., this (Monday) morning, March 2, 1925, at 8:25 o'clock, via A. & W. P. railway, for funeral services and interment, by H. M. Patterson & Son.

PARLINGER—The friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Farlinger, of Cornelia, Ga.; Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith, Smith, Eleanor Farlinger, Mr. W. L. Farlinger, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Farlinger, of Cornelia, Ga.; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Farlinger, of Cornelia, Ga., are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. A. W. Farlinger (tomorrow) (Tuesday) morning, March 3, 1925, at 10 o'clock, at the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, Rev. Thurman Jacobs will officiate. Interment private in West View cemetery.

FINCHER—The friends of Mr. De Witt Fincher, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Fincher, Mr. Harry Fincher and Mr. Barnard Fincher are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. De Witt Fincher this (Monday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church. Rev. Robert Ivey will officiate. Interment, Crest Lawn cemetery. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the residence, 386 Oakland avenue, at 2 o'clock: Mr. Walter Bowles, Mr. Lawton Grant, Mr. James Oschman, Mr. Frank Jamison, Mr. Vason McWhorter and Mr. James Little. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

HARRIS—Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Arthur Harris, Misses Lydia and Marjia Harris, Mr. Arthur Harris, Mr. J. S. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Harris and Mrs. W. N. Ferguson are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. Noah Arthur Harris this (Monday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes Co., 17 W. Cain street. Interment, West View cemetery. Rev. J. W. Quillian will officiate. Members of the W. D. Luckie Lodge No. 88, E. & A. M., will have charge of the services at the grave. Members of the Yaarab temple and A. O. M. S. are invited to attend the services. The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers: Mr. A. C. Miller, Mr. Ed Seitzinger, Mr. Oliver Dolcin, Mr. Jack Edithridge, Mr. H. W. Powell, Dr. J. F. Reiding.

ADKINS—Miss Mary E. Adkins died late Saturday evening, February 28, 1925, at the home, No. 179 E. Seventeenth street. She is survived by one brother, Mr. William H. Adkins; four nieces, Mrs. Lewis Sharrp, both of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. John Procter, Mrs. Robert Williamson, both of Rome, Ga.; and Mrs. D. E. Lovell, of Philadelphia, Pa., and one nephew, Dr. W. Nevill Adkins, of Atlanta, Ga. The remains will be carried this (Monday) morning, March 2, at 6:30 o'clock via Southern railway, to Rome, Ga., for funeral and interment, by Adkins & Brandon. The funeral will be held at the grave side in Myrtle Hill cemetery at 10:30 o'clock a. m. today.

BOWIE—Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marvin Bowie, Mr. Marshall L. Bowie, Mrs. N. Bowie, Mr. N. Bowie, Mr. J. J. Bowie, Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowie, Roy Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Harland Cofer, Misses Gertrude and Emma Bowie, all of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Smith, Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. F. O. Wilson, Miss Carrie Wilson, Mrs. A. E. Smith and Mr. F. F. Wilson are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. Charles Marvin Bowie (Monday) morning, March 2, 1925, at 2:30 p. m. from the chapel of Greenberg & Bond Co., Rev. Marvin Williams officiating. Interment at West View. The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers and please meet at residence, 220 Atwood street, at 1:30 p. m.: Mr. L. C. Pettway, Mr. J. B. Davenport, Mr. J. M. George, Mr. Charles A. Molloy, Mr. R. Hull, Mr. F. A. Miller, Apalachee Tribe No. 31, I. O. O. F. M., will have charge of services at grave. Eureka Council No. 7, J. O. U. A. M., will act as escort.

ROLLINGSWORTH—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gresham, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. White, Mr. and Mrs. Al Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Blankenship and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Conner are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. T. E. Gresham this (Monday) afternoon at 4 o'clock, from the chapel of Harry G. Poole, Rev. L. O. Bricker will officiate. Interment, Oakland. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the chapel at 3:45 o'clock: Mr. J. H. McAllister, Mr. Sam McAllister, Mr. L. L. Whitfield, Mr. Osborn Boyle, Mr. C. N. Conner and Mr. Huskie.

KELLY—Mrs. Annie Kelly died Saturday evening at the residence, 41 Berman avenue, in the 50th year of her age. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Will Kelly; five daughters, Mrs. J. L. Larues, Mrs. E. H. Cosby, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Miss Annie Kelly and Miss Pauline Kelly; one sister, Mrs. S. E. Hilger, and two brothers, Mrs. Bunt and Charlie Harvey. Funeral and interment will be announced later. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

COCHRAN—The friends of Mrs. Mattie M. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Barner, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Betterson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Shaw, Miss Emma Cochran and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Cochran are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mattie M. Cochran this (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock, from Griffin church. Interment, churchyard. Funeral party will leave at 8:30 a. m. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

GARROW—The friends and relatives of Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Garrow are invited to attend the funeral of Rev. Ellis Garrow this (Monday) afternoon, March 2, 1925, at 2:30 o'clock, from the Hill Street Methodist church, Rev. W. F. Dick and Rev. Sam Haynes officiating. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the home, No. 255 Hill street, at 2:15 o'clock: Mr. B. Nance, Mr. Robert Anderson, Mr. R. L. Brown, Mr. J. R. Cartright, Mr. R. L. Wood and Mr. J. L. Trammel. Barclay & Brandon.

JONES—Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edgar Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin H. Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Jones and family, Deatur, Ga.; Mr. Howard Jones, Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. William Jones and family, Toronto, Canada, are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. Henry Edgar Jones Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence, 144 Sinden avenue. Interment, Stone Mountain cemetery. R. Z. Tyler will officiate. Awtry & Lowndes Co., funeral directors.

MORTUARY
 H. E. JONES.
 Henry Edgar Jones, H. died Sunday at the residence, 44 Sinden avenue. He is survived by his wife, a son, H. E. Jones, Jr.; a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Jones; his daughter, Mrs. John T. Jones; three sisters, Mrs. L. P. Jones, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Melvin H. Jones, all of Atlanta, and three brothers, Byron, Deatur, Ga., and William Jones, of Toronto, Canada.

MARY BELLE MORRIS
 The body of Mary Belle Morris, 1 year old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Morris, of 241 Winter avenue, Decatur, will be taken to Carrollton this morning. In addition to her parents she is survived by a brother, Charles, and grandparents, Mrs. Belle Morris and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Walker.

PRIVATE LOANS
 On Diamonds, Watches and Jewelry
W. M. LEWIS & CO.
 4th FLOOR PETERS BLDG.

Buy a Home—Have the Title Guaranteed and Insured by ATLANTA TITLE & TRUST CO.
 15 East Alabama St.

TRUCK BODIES
 All kinds, built to order
 Repairing, Painting and Lettering
 Auto Wheels Tightened
YANCEY BROS.
 90 N. Jackson St. - Walnut 5074

PROFESSIONAL CAPS
 Albert Howell, Jr., Mark Howell, Hugh M. Dorsey, Arthur Heyman, Dorsey, HOWELL & HEYMAN
 506 to 520 Connally Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

ALONZO RICHARDSON & COMPANY
 CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
 1425-1425 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. ATLANTA

REAL ESTATE LOANS
 Made promptly at lowest rates. Residences, stores or apartments. Loans made straight for five years or with annual reductions. Appraisals made here. Immediate closings.
Mortgage Bond & Trust Company
 No. 47 North Broad Street WALNUT 2240

$500 to $50,000
 Straight Loans or Loans with Annual Reduction at prevailing rates on Atlanta, Decatur, East Point, or College Park property. Prompt service.
T. B. GAY COMPANY
 1012 Grant Bldg. Walnut 5678

LOANS
BUSINESS AND RESIDENCE PROPERTY MONEY AVAILABLE AT ONCE
 Local capital enables us to close loans 48 hours after application is approved. Loans may be for a term of years, or with yearly or monthly reduction.
 Real Estate Mortgage Department TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA
 Atlanta, Ga. Walnut 1671

Loans on Atlanta Homes AND CENTRAL BUSINESS PROPERTY
 Interest Rates 5½%-6%
 Commission charges very reasonable
The Southern Mortgage Co.
 Walnut 5416 10 Auburn Ave.
 J. T. Holleman W. L. Kemp J. W. Andrews Horace Holleman Pres. V. Pres. Sec. Treas.

REAL ESTATE LOANS
 On Atlanta homes and business property, 6 and 7% interest. Appraisals made and money paid by our office. Prompt service.
DRAPER-OWENS CO.
 REALTORS
 Grant Bldg. Real Estate—Insurance—Loans WAL. 0080

ROLLINGSWORTH
 The friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gresham, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. White, Mr. and Mrs. Al Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Blankenship and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Conner are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. T. E. Gresham this (Monday) afternoon at 4 o'clock, from the chapel of Harry G. Poole, Rev. L. O. Bricker will officiate. Interment, Oakland. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the chapel at 3:45 o'clock: Mr. J. H. McAllister, Mr. Sam McAllister, Mr. L. L. Whitfield, Mr. Osborn Boyle, Mr. C. N. Conner and Mr. Huskie.

KELLY—Mrs. Annie Kelly died Saturday evening at the residence, 41 Berman avenue, in the 50th year of her age. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Will Kelly; five daughters, Mrs. J. L. Larues, Mrs. E. H. Cosby, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Miss Annie Kelly and Miss Pauline Kelly; one sister, Mrs. S. E. Hilger, and two brothers, Mrs. Bunt and Charlie Harvey. Funeral and interment will be announced later. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

COCHRAN—The friends of Mrs. Mattie M. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Barner, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Betterson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Shaw, Miss Emma Cochran and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Cochran are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mattie M. Cochran this (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock, from Griffin church. Interment, churchyard. Funeral party will leave at 8:30 a. m. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

GARROW—The friends and relatives of Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Garrow are invited to attend the funeral of Rev. Ellis Garrow this (Monday) afternoon, March 2, 1925, at 2:30 o'clock, from the Hill Street Methodist church, Rev. W. F. Dick and Rev. Sam Haynes officiating. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the home, No. 255 Hill street, at 2:15 o'clock: Mr. B. Nance, Mr. Robert Anderson, Mr. R. L. Brown, Mr. J. R. Cartright, Mr. R. L. Wood and Mr. J. L. Trammel. Barclay & Brandon.

JONES—Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edgar Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin H. Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Jones and family, Deatur, Ga.; Mr. Howard Jones, Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. William Jones and family, Toronto, Canada, are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. Henry Edgar Jones Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence, 144 Sinden avenue. Interment, Stone Mountain cemetery. R. Z. Tyler will officiate. Awtry & Lowndes Co., funeral directors.

MORTUARY
 H. E. JONES.
 Henry Edgar Jones, H. died Sunday at the residence, 44 Sinden avenue. He is survived by his wife, a son, H. E. Jones, Jr.; a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Jones; his daughter, Mrs. John T. Jones; three sisters, Mrs. L. P. Jones, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Melvin H. Jones, all of Atlanta, and three brothers, Byron, Deatur, Ga., and William Jones, of Toronto, Canada.

MARY BELLE MORRIS
 The body of Mary Belle Morris, 1 year old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Morris, of 241 Winter avenue, Decatur, will be taken to Carrollton this morning. In addition to her parents she is survived by a brother, Charles, and grandparents, Mrs. Belle Morris and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Walker.

PRIVATE LOANS
 On Diamonds, Watches and Jewelry
W. M. LEWIS & CO.
 4th FLOOR PETERS BLDG.

Buy a Home—Have the Title Guaranteed and Insured by ATLANTA TITLE & TRUST CO.
 15 East Alabama St.

TRUCK BODIES
 All kinds, built to order
 Repairing, Painting and Lettering
 Auto Wheels Tightened
YANCEY BROS.
 90 N. Jackson St. - Walnut 5074

PROFESSIONAL CAPS
 Albert Howell, Jr., Mark Howell, Hugh M. Dorsey, Arthur Heyman, Dorsey, HOWELL & HEYMAN
 506 to 520 Connally Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

ALONZO RICHARDSON & COMPANY
 CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
 1425-1425 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. ATLANTA